ANALYTICAL RECORDS.

TURTLE JELLY.

(BRAND & CO., LITTLE STANHOPE STREET MAYFAIR).

This is a perfectly clear jelly, made from real turtle, and flavoured slightly with lemon or orange. It is an excellent preparation, and will form a valuable addition to the menu of the invalid. We have already seen it used with success in cases where ordinary food was retained with difficulty.

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, VEAL AND CHICKEN. (BRAND & CO.)

Although these preparations can now hardly be called novelties, we notice them on account of their great value in medical practice. They consist of the pure juice of the flesh, extracted by heat and clarified, but not concentrated and otherwise untouched. The juice sets to a thin jelly as clear as sherry, and the flavour of the meat is perfectly preserved. The first idea of this kind of preparation is due, we think, to Dr. Druitt, and if so, the profession is indebted to him for a very useful combination of food and stimulant. The essences are best used cold, but may also be liquefied by heat, and used as enemata. Of course they do not keep long when once opened.

The same firm prepares Concentrated Extract of Beef and Invalid Turtle Soup, both excellent in quality.

Caution.—Beware of Imitations.

Each Tin or Skin manufactured by B. & Co. bears their Signature and Address as above, on the Label, without which NONE are genuine.

If it were from the 15th June to the 25th March, it would be 10 days more, or 283 days; but if from the 15th June to the 5th March, it would be 10 days less, or 263 days. In leap years, when the last day of February is included between the two times, there will be one day more than by the table.

THE

IRISH MEDICAL DIRECTORY,

(†) This mark is attached to the names of all gentlemen who have not replied to our repeated requests for information. To each of these gentlemen three circular notes have been sent to their registered address, and as none of these communications have been returned to us through the Dead Letter Office, it is to be supposed that the gentlemen have been found at the address given.

We have corrected the List as far as our information would permit. The Name and Qualifications (being taken from the Medical Register) are correct, but for the accuracy of the Address we are not responsible.

GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE
GOVERNMENT OF DISPENSARY DISTRICTS,
AND THE
QUALIFICATIONS FOR THE OFFICE OF MEDICAL OFFICER, UNDER THE MEDICAL CHARITIES' ACT;
AND ALSO
FOR THE PERFORMANCE OF VACCINATION,
UNDER THE VACCINATION ACTS.

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT.

ARTICLE 1.—Immediately on the completion of a new Committee of Management for each dispensary district, after each annual election of guardians in the union, the clerk of the union shall make a return annexed to this order, to us the said Commissioners, of the names and addresses of the respective members of the committee; and in like manner, on any election to the Board of Guardians or ratepayers.

ARTICLE 2.—The clerk of the union shall, on the appointment of a new committee as aforesaid, send to each member of the committee for every dispensary district, a notice in the annexed form No. 3; and on the election of any ratepayer to supply a vacancy at any time in any of the said committees, the clerk shall send to him a notice in the annexed form No. 4.

ARTICLE 3.—Immediately upon the completion of any new committee as aforesaid, the clerk of the union shall furnish each medical officer with a list, according to the annexed form, No. 5, of the names and residences of all persons entitled to give tickets for medical relief in his district, that is to say, of the members of the committee, and of every relieving officer and warden acting as such for any electoral division included in such district; and the medical officer shall lay such list before the Committee of Management at their first meeting after receipt thereof. And the clerk shall in like manner notify, from time to time, any changes, from death or otherwise, of members of the Committee of Management, relieving officers, or wardens, in any districts, to the respective medical officers thereof, who shall lay such notification before the Committee of Management at their first meeting after receipt thereof.

ARTICLE 4.—After the completion of the committee in each year, the clerk of the union shall prepare a notice specifying the persons and their residences to whom application may be made for tickets for medical relief, the situation of the dispensary or dispensary stations in the district, the days and hours of attendance at each, the name and residence of the medical officer, the days and hours when the medical officer will attend at each of the places within such dispensary district appointed by the committee for the purpose of vaccination, and such other particulars of the dispensary arrangements as may be necessary to afford due facility for obtaining medical relief and vaccination where requisite. Such notice shall be in the form N, annexed to this order; and a copy shall be posted at each dispensary in the district, and at such other places in the district as may be necessary for the due notification of the dispensary arrangements. The clerk shall also cause a notice board, in the form O, to be kept conspicuously painted and affixed on the exterior of each dispensary in the district, showing the days and hours of attendance of the medical officer.

ARTICLE 5.—Whenever any person ceases to be a member of the committee, or a warden, or a relieving officer, the clerk of the union shall transmit to him a notice in the form No. 6, apprizing him of the cessation of his power to issue tickets for medical relief, and requiring him to return to the Board of Guardians any forms of the tickets for medical relief, which had been issued to him in the medical relief ticket check books (forms E 1 and E 2, hereinafter mentioned), and which may not have been used.

MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

ARTICLE 6.—At the first meeting of the committee of each district after the annual appointment of a new committee, they shall elect from their own body a chairman and vice-chairman, each of whom shall continue to act as such until the appointment of a new committee, unless he shall previously die, resign, or become incapable or disqualified by ceasing to be a member of the committee. And if a chairman or vice-chairman die, resign his office, or become incapable or disqualified as aforesaid to act as such chairman or vice-chairman before the expiration of the term of office for which he was appointed, the committee shall, within one month after the occurrence of such death, resignation, incapacity, or disqualification, elect some other member of the committee to such office.

ARTICLE 7.—The committee shall at their first meeting after each annual appointment of a new committee, and afterwards from time to time on the occurrence of any vacancy, appoint, from their own body, an honorary secretary and an honorary assistant secretary, who shall continue to hold their respective offices during the pleasure of the committee, or until death, resignation, or disqualification by ceasing to be a member of the committee:—Provided that on the termination of the year of office of the committee, the secretary and assistant secretary, if they continue members thereof, respectively, need not be re-elected by the committee, but shall continue to act as secretary or assistant Secretary, unless any other appointment to either of those offices be made by the committee.

ARTICLE 8.—The committee shall hold ordinary meetings from time to time, at the dispensary or one of the dispensaries of the district, on such day of the week and at such hour as may be fixed by the committee, but not less frequently than once in each fortnight or once in each calendar month, as the committee with the sanction of the Commissioners may determine; and the time fixed for the ordinary meetings of the committee shall be reported to the Commissioners; and the committee may adjourn any meeting to any day earlier than the next ordinary day of meeting, if they shall deem it necessary to do so.

ARTICLE 9.—The committee may, when they think fit, with the sanction of the Commissioners, change the day or hour for their ordinary meetings, and shall cause any such change to be reported to the Commissioners.

ARTICLE 10.—At every meeting of the committee, the chairman, or, in his absence, the vice-chairman, shall preside; but if at the commencement of any meeting the chairman and vice-chairman be absent, the members present shall elect one of themselves to preside at such meeting as chairman thereof.

ARTICLE 11.—An extraordinary meeting of the committee may be summoned to be held at any time, upon the requisition of any two members of the committee, addressed to the secretary or assistant secretary of the committee. Every such requisition shall be made in writing, and may be according to the form A, hereunto annexed; and no business, other than the business specified in the said requisition, shall be transacted at such extraordinary meeting. Provided that the chairman or vice-chairman, together with the secretary or assistant secretary, may, by a notice in Form B, hereunto annexed, summon an extraordinary meeting when deemed necessary by them, without a previous requisition from any other members of the committee; and an extraordinary meeting shall be summoned by any one of these officers on being required by the Commissioners to summon such meeting.

DIRECTIONS FOR FILLING UP MEDICAL RELIEF TICKETS.

The Ticket and counterpart are both to be filled up by the person authorized to issue the Ticket; one part to be retained by the person issuing the Ticket, and the other to be detached from the book and given to the applicant, for presentation to the Medical Officer.

Care should be taken in the issue of the Tickets accordingly: and Tickets should be issued in the Form E 2, for visiting at the residence of the applicant, in cases of necessity only, and with all available information as to the nature of the case.

The Ticket, in either form, is to be issued for the Dispensary District in which the applicant is resident at the time; and care should be taken to fill up the Ticket and apprize the applicant accordingly, as the Medical Officer of each Dispensary District is only bound to attend "any poor person resident therein."

The Christian Name and Surname of the applicant should be inserted in the Ticket in full; and such description of his place of abode (as, Name of Townland, and, where necessary, the Parish also; or in case of Cities and Towns, the Street, Place, or Row, &c., and Number of House), should be given, as will be sufficient for identification and for registration; and with this view, the age and occupation of the applicant should also be stated wherever practicable. Any further observation which the grantor of the Ticket may desire to make for the information of the Medical Officer, should be written on the front of the Ticket.

DIRECTIONS FOR FILLING UP THE MEDICAL RELIEF REGISTER.

Column 1.—The series of numbers is to run from the beginning to the end of the year; and a fresh series is to be commenced on the 1st January in each year, beginning with the first new case on or after that day. The same patient is not to have a second number, except in the event of a second or subsequent illness within the year, in which event he should, on presentation of a fresh ticket, be registered again with a fresh number, as a new case, reference being also made, in the column for observations, to his previous number.

Column 2.—The date on which the ticket is presented to the Medical Officer is to be inserted in column 2.

Columns 3, 4, 5, and 6.—The Christian and surname of the patient are to be inserted in full in column 3; the residence of the patient in column 4; the age of the patient, as well as can be ascertained, in column 5; and the disease for which the patient is treated in column 6.

Columns 7 and 8.—The date of each attendance from the commencement to the termination of the case is to be entered in these columns; if the attendance is at the dispensary, in column 7; if at the patient's home, in column 8.

Column 9.—Should contain a record of the treatment of each case. The date of each attendance, as entered in column 7 or 8, should be entered in this column also; with a description of the prescription or treatment at each date. If in any case the attendances and prescriptions should be too numerous to admit of their all being entered in the space provided for the purpose, a new entry of the case may be made at a subsequent page of the book, but not with a new number, a reference being made in the first entry to the page of the book at which the case is continued.

Column 10.—Is to contain a statement of the result of the case, as "Relieved," "Cured," "Died," "Ticket Cancelled by Committee," and in the latter case the date of the meeting at which the ticket was cancelled should be entered, and the chairman of the day should place his signature or initials against the entry.

Column 11.—This column is intended for any other particulars, directions, or explanations as to any case which the Medical Officer or the Chairman of the Committee may think it desirable to insert.

7. Such Notice and the Requisition may be sent by post.

8. Births should be registered within three months, and Deaths within fourteen days from their occurrence.

15. Every entry must be made in presence of an Informant, and signed by the Informant in the presence of the Registrar, who cannot sign in his own Books as an Informant.

16. If there is more than one Child at a Birth, a separate Entry must be made for each child in order of priority, and the exact time of each Birth, if it can be ascertained.

17. Whenever the day of the Month occurs in an Entry it should be written in words ; the Year should always be added in figures.

18. In Towns the Street and Number of the house should be given ; and in Country Districts the name of the Residence, the Townland, and Parish.

19. The Christian Name, but not the Surname, is to be entered in the column "Name (if any) ;" if a Name has not been given, the column is to be left blank.

20. If an Informant does not state the name of the Father, and that there is reason to believe it to be illegitimate, the Registrar shall not press inquiry, but shall leave the column for "Name of Father," and "Profession," blank.

21. The Sex of the Child, as well as its name, should be ascertained from Informant, and entered. If a Child has not been named when registered, the Informant should be supplied with a certificate, Form C, in order that, if a name be given in Baptism within six months, it may be added to the Entry.

22. Parties should be required to return the Certificate seven days after Baptism ; but the name may be registered within six months from the date of Registration.

23. In the case of Parents who do not recognise Baptism, a certificate, Form F, should be supplied to the Informant, in order that if a name be given to a Child after registration, it may be added to the Entry within six months. If the name is given after six months, it can only be added with the written authority of one or more Justices at the Petty Sessions.

24. For the addition of a Baptismal, or other name, the Registrar is entitled to One Shilling.

25. The Registrar shall then certify on the certificate:—"That the (baptismal) name mentioned herein has been duly registered by me." The Certificate should be then forwarded to the Registrar-General.

26. Whenever a baptismal name has been added to an entry of Birth after transmission to the Register office of the certified copies containing such entry, a certified copy of such entry shall be sent to the Registrar-General.

Registration within Six Months and after Three Months.

(26 Vic., cap. 11, secs. 32, 33, and 59.)

27. A Birth cannot be registered after Three Months following the Birth, unless in the presence of the Superintendent Registrar, before whom a Declaration must be made. The Superintendent Registrar must sign the Entry as well as the Registrar.

28. A fee of 2s. 6d. is payable to the Superintendent Registrar, and a like fee to the Registrar by persons registering births under this section. If the parties do not pay these fees, the Registrar shall not refuse to register, but may take proceedings under the 22nd Vic., cap. 14.

29. The Registration of a birth after six months from the Birth is forbidden; and a Registrar making such an Entry is liable to a penalty of Five Pounds.

Registration of Deaths.

(26 Vic., cap. 11, secs. 36, 42 and 46.)

30. Before beginning the entry of a Death, the Registrar should satisfy himself—

1st. That the place of Death is within his District.

2nd. That the Informant is legally "qualified" to sign the Register, and is acquainted with all particulars.

31. The only persons legally qualified to sign the Register are the following:—

1. Some person present at the Death. 2. Some person in attendance during the last illness. 3. The Occupier of the House or Tenement in which the Death took place†. (†When a Death occurs in a Gaol, Workhouse, Hospital, or other Public or Charitable Institution, the "Chief Resident Officer" of such is qualified as a "Chief Resident Officer.") 4. If the Occupier be the person who shall have died, then—some inmate of the House. 5. If the Death has not occurred in a house, then—any person present or having a knowledge of the circumstances.

32. For Definition of "Occupier" see Clause 27.

33. When there is no person qualified to act as informant, and an inquest has not been held, a "Person having a knowledge of the circumstances" may sign the Register as Informant, a special note being made of the circumstances.

34. The relationship of the "Informant" to the deceased should not be inserted—relationship not being a qualification for an "Informant," except in the case of Registry of a Birth.

35. As to making Entry see Clauses 28, 30, 31, 34.

36. The "Condition" should be described by the word "Bachelor," "Spinster," "Married," "Widower," or "Widow," as the case may be.

37. The age should be stated in figures, and the age of children under a year should be stated in "Months," "Days," "Hours," or "Minutes."

38. In cases of married women and children who have not followed any "Occupation," the column (7) headed "Rank, &c." should be filled thus:—"Wife," "Widow," "Son," or "Daughter of a Labourer," &c., as the case may be.

39. As it is of the utmost importance that the column headed "Cause of Death," should be accurately filled, all vague statements as to the nature of the disease should be avoided; and Registrars are requested to call the attention of Medical Practitioners to this subject when they have an opportunity. Such returns as "Hæmorrhage," "Abscess," "Inflammation," "Vomiting," &c., &c., are not sufficiently definite.

40. In Small Pox it should be ascertained whether the deceased had been Vaccinated; in Tetanus, whether "idiopathic" or "traumatic;" Cancer, where situated; Injuries, how caused; "Poisoning," "Hanging," "Gunshot-wounds," "Drowning," &c., whether accidental, homicidal, or suicidal.

41. The "Cause of Death" should be taken from the Certificate furnished by the Medical Practitioner who attended until the death, and the word "Certified" added underneath; all other particulars from the informant.

Medical Certificates of Death.

(26 Vic., cap. 11, sec. 46.)

42. The Registrar should furnish a Book of "Certificates of Death" to all qualified Medical Practitioners who reside within his District, AND ARE ACTUALLY PRACTISING. This includes all Army Surgeons stationed in the District, Apothecaries, and all Medical Attendants of Public Institutions.

43. If the Registrar has been himself the Medical Attendant, he should fill the Certificate and copy the cause of Death from it into the proper column, adding the word "Certified," For every death registered as Certified, he should hand to the Superintendent Registrar a corresponding "Certificate of Death."

44. If the deceased had no Medical Attendant, the Registrar should ascertain from the informant the cause of death and duration of illness, and enter them, adding, "Uncertified; no Medical Attendant."

45. Should a Medical Practitioner have been in attendance, but has not furnished a Certificate, he will forward to him a blank Form D, together with a requisition as directed by sec. 46. The Registrar should not in the meantime leave the entry in his Book blank, but should enter the "Cause of Death" from the statement of the informant, adding the word "Uncertified," leaving room for entering the Certified Cause. The date of entry should be given after the word "Certified," thus:—10/7/64.

46. If the attendance of the Medical Practitioner does not enable him to certify to the Cause, the Registrar should add the words "No Medical Attendant" after the word "Uncertified."

47. If a Medical Practitioner omits to furnish the necessary Certificate, his name, the name of deceased, and the date and place of death, should be reported to the Registrar-General.

48. If the certified "Cause" be added to any Entry after the Quarterly Returns have been furnished, a certified copy of the amended entry should be transmitted to the General Register Office.

Coroners' Certificates of Finding of Jury.

(26 Vic., cap. 11, secs. 37 & 38.)

49. The Coroner must give notice to the Registrar of the finding of a dead body, and of the place, and the Registrar is required, after proper inquiry, to register all particulars. In such cases the column headed "Signature, &c., of Informant," should be filled thus:—"Particulars ascertained under the 26 Vic., cap. 11, sec. 37." This mode of registry not necessary if the Coroner holds an Inquest.

50. In every (Inquest) case the Jury are directed to inquire into the particulars, and the Coroner should communicate the "Finding of the Jury" to the Registrar, who shall make the entry accordingly.

51. The "Finding" on still-born children should not be registered.

52. The Coroner is not required to sign the entry as Informant, and the column headed "Signature, &c., of Informant." should be filled thus:—"Information received from————————————, Coroner for the county of ————————————"

53. Should a "Finding of Jury" be forwarded to the Registrar touching a Death already registered, he must register it again, without alteration of the original entry, adding a note in the margin opposite each entry, thus:—"See entry No.————"

54. Should an inquest have been held and the "Finding" has not been furnished, he will at once forward to the Crown a blank form with the requisition. Should the Coroner fail to furnish the certificate, see clause 66.

General Observations.

55. If any space in a Register is accidentally passed over, or a partial entry made in mistake, it should be cancelled, and an accurate copy should appear in the Certified Copies. Spaces should not be left blank for expected Entries, nor entries be commenced to be completed at a future time.

56. If an Informant can write, he must sign his name. If he cannot, the Registrar will write the name, leaving a space for the mark.

57. In no case can the signature of an Informent be written by any person but the Informant.

58. Before an entry is begun, it is recommended that the particulars be written on a slip of paper, and shown or read to the Informant.

59. The Registrar should carefully ascertain how the names are usually spelled before making the entry.

60. Any errors discovered should be corrected, and numbered, and initialled, as shown in the examples given in the Register.

61. As soon as the Informant has signed, the Registrar should insert the Date and his own Signature in the proper columns.

62. Nothing except the proper particulars should be written in any of the columns.

63. If an Informant attends to register a Birth or Death which did not take place in the District, he should send him to the proper Registrar, and also inform such Registrar.

64. Still Births should not be registered.

Re-registration of Births and Deaths.

65. If a Birth or Death is registered a second time, the Registrar must not copy the former Entry, but make a separate Entry—the Informant and the Registrar signing such Entry. In such cases the date to be inserted is the date of the new Entry. A note should then be written in the margin of each Entry, thus—"See also Entry No.————." Each note should be initialled and dated. Any Birth or Death re-registered after the transmission to the Office of the Returns, should be reported to the Registrar-General, and the number of the second Entry stated.

Corrections of Errors.

66. An error discovered in a Book before an Entry is signed, may be corrected Sixteenth.
thus—Eleventh. Such corrections should be numbered in the margin at the time such correction is made, from the first correction in the Book to the last. (See examples in Register Books.)

67. If the error is one which cannot easily be corrected, such Entry should be cancelled, and a new Entry made before Informant leaves.

68. In no case must the Registrar correct an error by smearing it out, or by writing upon it; and even an accidental blot should not be erased with a knife, or by other means.

Corrections after Entries have been Signed.

(26 Vic., cap. 11, sec. 44.)

69. An error discovered after the Entry has been signed, can only be corrected by Entry in the margin, without any alteration of, or addition to, the original Entry. The person discovering such error should report it to the Justices at Petty Sessions, in order that they may summons, and authorize the Registrar to correct the error.

70. The marginal Entry should be as in the specimen page of the Registers, and should be signed by the party who made the Deposition and by the Registrar, and dated.

71. If a correction is made after the Certified Copy has been furnished to the Registrar-General, a separate Certified Copy should be forwarded, accompanied by the Justice's authority.

Entries to be Cancelled.

72. Any Entry signed by an Informant not authorized to sign under the 31st, 32nd, or 36th Sections. (If the Informant was qualified, but the qualification is omitted, the Entry need not be cancelled, but the qualification supplied in the margin under the provisions of the 44th Sec.)

73. Any Entry to which the signature (or mark) of the Informant, is not attached, or not written by the person whose signature it purports to be.

74. Any Entry of a Birth after Three Months, not registered before the Superintendent-Registrar, according to 32nd Sec.

75. If an Entry is cancelled after the Copies for the Quarter have been furnished, a Certified Copy should be forwarded to the General Register Office.

76. An Entry should not be cancelled in consequence of an error, if such error or omission can he corrected as in 44th Sec.

ABSTRACT OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL RULES FOR MANAGEMENT OF DISTRICT LUNATIC ASYLUMS IN IRELAND.

PROMULGATED 23*rd February*, 1874.

All the rules which are considered likely to be of importance to the medical officers are printed verbatim, those less directly applicable in abstract. The words verb. and abs. are prefixed to each rule as a guide to readers.

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

1. Abs.—The Board of Governors, three members whereof shall form a quorum, shall meet regularly once in every month (or oftener, should it be deemed necessary or advisable), for the discharge of the ordinary business of the institution; and every such Board shall examine into all fiscal details and the general management of the Asylum; and after an inspection of it by two or more Governors, shall enter on the minutes of the day's proceedings a report of its state as to cleanliness, regularity, and order, and the condition of its inmates, stating how far their well-being and comforts are attended to.

II. Abs.—Should a Board not assemble on the ordinary day, the R.M.S. shall issue summonses for a meeting on that day week.

III. Abs.—Special meetings may be summoned at not less than four days' notice for any particular object upon a requisition to the R.M.S., signed by two Governors, or by one of the Inspectors.

IV. Abs.—A full and accurate copy of the minutes shall be transmitted to the Inspectors within four days from the day of meeting. The Board shall also transmit the quarterly accounts and estimates of expenditure, and all applications for the advance of moneys for the current Asylum maintenance, to be signed by at least two Governors, and counter-signed by the R.M.S.

Clauses 5, 6, 7, and 8 have reference to contracts for supplies.

IX. Verb.—No question relating to increased expenditure, to alterations in the staff or management of an Asylum, or to alterations in the salary of Officers, or to the sub-division of old or creation of new offices, or to any other subject of importance, shall be taken into consideration, without a month's previous notice; and no resolution of the Board affecting the discipline or management of an Asylum as established by the present Rules shall take effect, if contrary to any of them, until after it shall have been submitted, through the Inspectors, to the Chief or Under Secretary, and shall have received the approval of the Lord Lieutenant.

X. Abs.—The general dietary shall be regulated by the Board. The Medical Officers shall be at liberty to prescribe such extras as they may deem necessary.

ADMISSION, TREATMENT, AND DISCHARGE OF PATIENTS.

XI. Verb.—Persons labouring under mental disease, for whom papers of application are filled up in the prescribed forms, to the satisfaction of the Board, and who shall be duly certified as insane by a registered physician or surgeon, who shall state the grounds on which he forms his opinion, shall be admissible into District Asylums, after having been examined by the Resident Medical Superintendent, or, in his absence, by the visiting physician or surgeon.

XII. Abs.—In the case of every District Asylum of which the district shall consist of more than one county, the Board shall ascertain the proper number of patients that can be accommodated in such Asylum, and also the quota of accommodation to which each county, forming the district of such Asylum, is entitled, such accommodation to be in proportion to the amount charged to such county towards the Asylum; and it shall be lawful for the Lord Lieutenant to alter or amend the said statement and quota.

XIII. Verb.—The Resident Medical Superintendent shall submit to the Board at each meeting a return; and when considering the applications for admissions, the Board shall, except in cases of extreme urgency, allocate the vacancies among the counties, counties of cities, or towns forming the district of the Asylum, so that each such county, county of a city, or town, shall receive its full quota of accommodation.

XIV. Abs.—The R.M.S. shall, within one week from the meeting of the Board, at which any order for admission of patients shall have been made, furnish to the Inspectors a return of the vacancies and admissions.

XV. Verb.—The Board shall require an engagement to be given in writing in the proper Form, for the removal of any patient, to be signed by the friends of the patient, or the magistrate, clergyman, or other responsible person who signs the application for admission, which engagement shall be strictly enforced.

XVI. Abs.—No patient, other than a "dangerous lunatic," shall be admitted without the sanction of the Board, except by order of the Lord Lieutenant, or of an Inspector, or in case of urgency, when any three Governors or the R.M.S., or in his absence, the Consulting and Visiting Physician, may admit upon their or his own authority, stating on the face of the order the ground thereof, provided always that when a patient has been admitted under this rule, the R.M.S., or in his absence the Visiting Physician, shall submit the case to the special consideration of the Board at its next meeting.

XVIII. Abs.—The patients shall be treated with all the gentleness compatible with their condition; and restraint, when necessary, shall be as moderate, both in extent and duration, as is consistent with the safety and advantage of the patient.

Clauses 19 and 20 refer to hours of rising and retiring to bed, and of meals.

XXI. Verb.—On the admission of a patient the Resident Medical Superintendent, or, if he shall be absent on leave, the Consulting and Visiting Physician, shall make himself acquainted as far as possible with the history of the case, and note the same down in the General Registry; he shall also examine into the bodily condition of the patient, who is to be placed in an appropriate division, and carefully attended to both medically and personally.

XXII. Verb.—Patients may be visited from time to time by their friends, with the permission of the R.M.S., and as a general rule between the hours of noon and 4 o'clock, P.M.

XXIII. Verb.—No patient shall be discharged without an order from the Board, on a certificate signed by both Medical Officers, stating the then mental condition of the patient; and no lunatic transferred to an Asylum from gaol, by warrant of the Lord Lieutenant, as dangerous, or admitted to an Asylum, by warrant of Justices, as dangerous, shall be set free or handed over to his friends as ceasing to be dangerous, except on a joint certificate to that effect, from both Medical Officers; but in the interval between the meetings of the Board it shall be in the power of an Inspector to order the discharge of any patient (not being a criminal lunatic under order of the Lord Lieutenant); but no such order shall be made, except at the request of the R.M.S., and unless a personal examination had been made by one of the Inspectors; and in every case the order shall be in writing, stating the grounds on which it is made, and shall be deposited with the R.M.S., to be kept by him among the records of the Asylum.

XXIV. Verb.—On the discharge of patients who have no available means, the Board is authorized to allow the expense of their journey home.

XXVI. Verb.—Patients who have not sufficient available means of their own for payment of their maintenance in a private Lunatic Asylum, but whose friends are willing to pay wholly or in part for their care and maintenance, may be admitted into District Lunatic Asylums, subject to the following regulations:—

No such patient shall be admitted into any District Asylum, so long as there shall be unsatisfied and legitimate claims for the admission of lunatic poor who have no available means of their own, and whose friends are unable or unwilling to contribute towards their care and maintenance in the asylum.

The Resident Medical Superintendent shall submit the application for the admission of every such patient to the Board, and shall state the amount stipulated to be paid by the friends of such patient towards his support, and shall be accompanied by a certificate, signed by a magistrate and a clergyman, stating that they are personally acquainted with the circumstances of such patient and his friends, and that to the best of their knowledge and belief, such patient is unable, and his friends are unable or unwilling to pay for his care and maintenance in a private lunatic asylum.

If the Board shall approve of the admission of such patient upon the terms stipulated, the R.M.S. shall forthwith submit the application to the Inspectors; and no such patient shall be admitted without their sanction.

Every agreement for payment shall be made with the R.M.S., and shall not exceed the average of the general cost, nor be less than one-half of the average cost, for the care and maintenance of patients in the District Asylum to which such patient shall be admitted; and the amount so stipulated shall be payable in advance by half-yearly instalments, provided always that in special cases the Board may authorize such an alteration in the charge as they think proper, not less in any case than one-fourth the average cost.

Paying patients shall be subject to the same rules and regulations as other patients in regard to their treatment, care, and maintenance.

Clause 27 refers to burial of deceased patients.

In cases, however, of drunkenness, insubordination, or cruelty, he may suspend any attendant or servant, reporting to the Inspectors within three days the name of the party and the cause of suspension, and at its subsequent meeting to the Board for its decision; and until such decision the offender shall be removed from the Asylum.

XXXIII. Verb.—He shall also visit the male divisions after the patients have retired to rest, and satisfy himself that they are safely and comfortably located for the night.

XXXIV. Verb.—In complicated or difficult cases of mental disease, or any case requiring particular treatment, he shall freely communicate with the Visiting Physician, and concert with him the most judicious mode of treatment which should be adopted.

XXXV. Verb.—He shall never be absent from the Asylum at the same time with the Matron, nor ever for the night without special leave from a Board or the Inspectors, and upon every such absence he shall enter in the book the date and period; and inform the Visiting Physician, who for the time shall exercise a general supervision over the establishment: and in case of protracted absence of the R.M.S. of any Asylum in which there is no A.M.O., a duly qualified substitute shall be provided, who shall reside in the Asylum during such absence.

XXXVI. Abs.—He shall be careful that the books are kept with regularity, and that they are at all times ready for inspection.

XXXVII. Verb.—He is to take care that the Minutes of each meeting are fully and accurately transcribed; that all communications directed by the Board are written, and despatched in due course; that any returns or information required by the Inspectors be furnished to them without delay; that all accounts of the institution are kept in accordance with the regulations of the Inspectors; and that the bills and vouchers are regularly prepared and submitted to the Governors at their meetings.

XXXIX. Verb.—He shall exercise a general supervision over the various articles contracted for as to quantity and quality; and if of inferior quality or deficient in quantity, he is authorized, should he feel fully justified in so doing, to procure an equivalent supply elsewhere at the contractor's expense.

XL. Verb.—He shall report at each meeting on the general condition of the establishment, and direct the attention of the Board to any matter that may tend to the well-being of the patients, and the efficient management of the institution.

XLI. Verb.—He shall prepare annually, not later than the February meeting of the Governors, a general report to the Board on the condition and expenditure of the Asylum during the preceding year, which shall be published as the Board may direct.

THE OFFICE OF CORONER,

*And the Law of Inquests in Ireland.

The Act of Parliament regulating the Office of Coroner is the 9th and 10th Viet., Cap. 37. After directing the several Counties to be divided into Coroners' Districts, it proceeds to settle the mode of Elections.

Whenever a vacancy occurs, two or more magistrates are to certify to the Clerk of the Peace that a vacancy exists. This information is to be forwarded by the Clerk of the Peace to the Lord Chancellor, within 21 days, who will thereupon issue his writ, de coronatore eligendo, to the Sheriff of the County, who shall appoint a day, not less than seven nor more than fourteen days after the receipt of the writ, for holding said Election. The Sheriff or his Deputy presides. Previous to the Candidates being put into nomination, they shall hand to the Sheriff a statement, in writing, setting forth the nature and quality, name, and description of the Property, and where situate, out of which they qualify. This Property must consist of an Estate of Inheritance, for his own use and benefit, of £50 sterling per annum, or an Estate of Freehold, of the clear yearly value of £100, over and above all charges or incumbrances. This Property must be situate in the County for which he seeks to be elected, or the County next thereto adjoining.

On the day appointed for holding the Election, if there is no opposition, the Candidate, being proposed and seconded by two persons qualified to vote for Members of Parliament, is declared by the Sheriff duly elected, and as soon as he takes the Oath of Office, can at once exercise the office of Coroner.

If there are more Candidates than one, the Sheriff must adjourn the Court to eight o'clock of the next day but one, unless such day be Saturday—then to the Monday following—when the poll shall be taken, and continue for two days, the persons entitled to vote being the persons, resident within the district, qualified to vote for Members of Parliament.

The Candidates are obliged to lodge in the hands of the Sheriff such a sum of money as shall be necessary to defray the expenses of the Election. At the close of the second day, the poll books are totted up, and the result declared, just as at an election for a County Member.

Duties of Coroners.

Coroners cannot act as Sub-Sheriffs, nor professionally as an Attorney, in any case in which they have held an Inquest.

A Coroner must reside in the district for which he is elected, and not be absent, unless from illness, for more than 28 days in each year, and though elected for a district, he is Coroner for the County, and may, when a vacancy occurs, or during the illness, incapacity, or absence of a Coroner, hold Inquests in any part of the County, and shall be paid for same, over and above his own Inquests, provided he states, in the abstract to be laid before the Grand Jury, the reason of his having held such Inquests. In a case where no Inquest has been held for two days after the finding of the dead body, or after the death, two magistrates may hold the Inquest.

Coroners are to hold inquests, whenever any dead body shall be found, and in any case of sudden death, or of death attended with suspicious circumstances, and the Constabulary are bound to report all such cases to the Coroner of the District, with all the information they can collect touching such death, or the finding of such body, and the discretion lies with the Coroner whether he considers an Inquest necessary or not. A custom prevails with the Constabulary to report such cases first to the nearest magistrate, and take his opinion, as to the necessity of holding an Inquest; this is clearly illegal, no person having the power to form that opinion but the Coroner. In 1859, the Grand Jury of the Queen's County directed the Constabulary, before they called on the Coroner of the District to hold an Inquest, that they should have, in writing, the previous sanction of the Magistrate of the District.

* The Coroners (Ireland) Act will be found printed in extenso, amongst the Acts of Parliament, further on in the Directory.

The Inspector-General of Constabulary submitted this order of the Grand Jury to the then Law Officers of the Crown—the present Chief Justice Whiteside and Mr. Justice George. The following is their opinion:—

"We are of opinion that the County Grand Jury of the Queen's County were "not warranted in giving to the Constabulary the order of the 2nd March, 1859, "to have the direction of a Magistrate, before they call upon the Coroner to "hold an Inquest, under the Coroners' (Ireland) Act, 9 and 10 Vict., c. 37. "Such an order is against the policy of the Act, which desires to expedite the "holding of Inquests, and expressly contravenes the provisions of the 22nd sec., "making it imperative on the Constabulary to call upon the Coroner to hold the "Inquest. The abstract and examination on oath, directed by the 24th sec., "and the checks provided by the 41st and 50th sections, are sufficient to guard "against abuses. If these are complied with, the 22nd section becomes man-"datory on the Grand Jury to make the presentments required by the Act."

Summoning of Juries.

Formerly it was the practice for the Constabulary to forward their reports, by hand, from one station to another; but latterly they are frequently forwarded by post, which is extremely inconvenient, and often attended with great uncertainty. The Constabulary are bound to serve all summonses issued by Coroners, either for the attendance of Jurors or Witnesses. The qualification for a Juryman is, that he shall be resident in the district, and rated to the relief of the poor, in a sum not less than £4. If a sufficient number cannot be obtained, so many other fit and proper persons, being householders, shall be summoned.

Fees to Coroners.

Coroners are paid £1 10s. for each Inquest held by him since the preceding Assizes, or since his last application for a Presentment, but not to exceed £50, at each Assizes. As soon, then, as he has held a sufficient number, viz., 33, he should at once lodge his application with the Secretary of the Grand Jury, then any that are held between that and the Assizes can be carried forward to the next presenting term, or following Assizes. This is important to bear in mind, as the period between Summer and Spring Assizes is eight months, whereas that between Spring and Summer is only four months. He is also entitled to charge sixpence for every statute mile he travels, going to hold each Inquest, but nothing returning; likewise, if a Coroner, after travelling to the place where the dead body lies, in the exercise of his discretion, deems an Inquest unnecessary, he is to be allowed the same mileage.

Medical Witnesses.

Coroners can summons any legally qualified Medical Practitioner—that is, any person registered under the Medical Act, 21 and 22 Vict., c. 90, to give evidence, and, if necessary, to make a post mortem examination of the body, for which they are to be paid, in the first case, a fee of £1 1s., and in the case of a post mortem, a fee of £2 2s.; and if a Jury desire to have further medical evidence, as to the cause of death, the Coroner is obliged, on a written requisition from them, to call in some other legally qualified Medical Practitioner, or Practitioners, and if the Coroner refuse or neglect to do so, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. In cases of poisoning, or suspected poisoning, the Coroner can order an analysis to be made, for which the Grand Jury can present five guineas.

A mistaken idea prevails amongst Dispensary Medical Officers that, as such, the Coroner is obliged to call on them when medical evidence is required. The words of the Act are:—"He shall summons, as such Witness, any legally "qualified Medical Practitioner, being at the time in actual practice at or near "the place where such death happened."

Medical Officers of Workhouses, Gaols, County Infirmaries, or Lunatic Asylums, or other Hospital supported by endowments or voluntary subscriptions, are not entitled to be paid for evidence, or for post mortem examinations at Inquests held on any patient dying in such establishment, but it has been decided that Military Surgeons are entitled to be paid for attendance at Inquests on soldiers dying in a Military Hospital.

Coroners can fine Jurors and Witnesses for non-attendance after being duly summoned, and can punish by imprisonment, for a definite period, in the County Gaol, any person guilty of contempt of court, the same as any other presiding Judge.

Deposit of Bodies.

When a dead body is found, the Coroner has power to order it to be deposited in the nearest house licensed for the sale of spirits, until an Inquest is held. No allowance can be made to a public house for this accommodation, but if brought to a private house, 3s. 6d. a day can be allowed for allowing the dead body to remain, and 3s. 6d. a day for accommodation to hold the Inquest; poor witnesses can be allowed 1s. a day for attendance at the Inquest; 5s. can be paid for disintering, and afterwards burying a body, and 10s. for providing a coffin and interring the body of any stranger on whom an Inquest has been held.

Presentments for Inquests.

Coroners sometimes are sorely harassed and put to expense by having their claims for Inquests, or the fees they advance to medical men, disallowed by the Grand Jury, or brought before the going Judge of Assize, but these questions have been so frequently decided in favour of the Coroner, that of late years the objections are not so frequent, but nothing will effectually remedy this evil but paying Coroners by fixed salaries. It has been decided by Chief Baron Pigott, Baron Fitzgerald, and Mr. Justice O'Brien, that if the Coroner, in the bona fide exercise of his discretion, considers an Inquest necessary, the Grand Jury were bound to allow him his fee, and where a fee of £2 2s. had been paid for a post-mortem examination, it was decided, if the post-mortem was made by the direction of the Coroner, and the fee paid, it was compulsory on the Grand Jury to allow the fee. Mr. Justice O'Brien, in addressing the Grand Jury of the County Dublin, on the 16th April. 1862, said:—

"There were presentments to Coroners for the holding of Inquests, and "several cases had recently come before him and his learned colleague, in- "volving a question with respect to the power of Grand Juries to determine as "to whether it was expedient, in particular instances, to have held inquests or "not. It would be a very inconvenient power to invest Grand Juries with, to "determine such a question, and where cases of sudden death arose, it was for "the interest of the public, and essential to the due administration of justice, "and the security of life, that the matter should be fully investigated. The "Grand Jury were not to determine whether, in their opinion, it was necessary "for the Coroner to have held each particular inquest, but whether the Coroner "bona fide believed it expedient to do so."

Bail.

Coroners have no power to take bail for a person charged with manslaughter, though the late Mr. Davis, the experienced Coroner for the County Dublin, frequently did so, but the safest course, until the law is clear on the subject, is to let an application be made to the Court of Queen's Bench.

Coroners are sometimes entrusted with the execution of writs against the person or property of individuals, but only where the Sheriff fails or declines to do so. In the case of a writ or execution against the Sheriff, the Coroner is the only person can execute it.

An attempt was made during the Session of 1872 to amend the law relating to the payment of Coroners; it merely permitted Grand Juries to pay Coroners a fixed annual salary, taking the average of their actual receipts for fees and milcage for five years as the amount to which they were entitled; but although the same Bill proposed to grant superannuation to Secretaries of Grand Juries, County Surveyors, and their assistants, it did not do so to the Coroner. It is to be hoped, if a similar Bill is introduced next Session, this injustice will be obviated, and that an office so ancient and useful will receive that consideration to which it is entitled.

During the last Session of Parliament a Bill to amend the laws relating to the appointment, duties and payment of County Coroners, and expenses of inquests in Ireland, was introduced by Mr. Vance and Sir John Gray. Its leading features were to empower Coroners to appoint deputies, to abolish the property qualification—confining the election of future Coroners to persons registered under the Medical Act of 1858, Barristers-at-Law, Attorneys or Solicitors, and Justices of the Peace of five years' standing—payment of Coroners by salaries instead of fees, curtailing the polling at elections to one day, granting superannuation to Coroners, power to discharge juries who disagree and swear a fresh one, power to take bail in cases of manslaughter, &c., &c. The Bill was read a second time, thereby affirming the general principle of the measure; but on the assurance of Sir M. H. Beach, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, that Government would prepare a Bill during the recess and submit it to Parliament next Session, Mr. Vance consented to withdraw his Bill.

It is to be hoped a liberal measure may be introduced—one that will elevate this ancient office, and do away with the unseemly collisions between the Constabulary and the Coroners that has prevailed for the last year or two; for if the office is to be continued it should be maintained in its integrity, and supported by the authorities rather than depreciated—in a word, it would be far better to abolish the office than degrade it; but we hope to see it maintained, its character elevated, its usefulness extended. and its emoluments increased.

Every year it shall be competent for our Commander-in-Chief, on the recommendation of the Director-General of the Army Medical Department, to select, with the approval of our Secretary of State, a number of surgeons not exceeding six, who shall be retained in the service, and shall be promoted after twelve years' service on full-pay to the rank of Surgeon-Major.

16. All promotion from the rank of Surgeon-Major to that of Deputy Surgeon-General, and from the rank of Deputy Surgeon-General to that of Surgeon-General, shall be given for ability and merit upon the selection of our Commander-in-Chief, with the approval of our Secretary of State; and the grounds of such selection shall be stated to us in writing, and recorded in the department. In all such cases the amount of foreign service shall be expressly stated.

17. A medical officer retiring after full-pay service of twenty-five years and upwards, may, if recommended for the same by the head of his department, receive a step of honorary rank, but without any consequent increase of half-pay.

18. Good-service pensions shall be awarded to the most meritorious officers of the Army Medical Department, under such regulations as shall be from time to time determined by us, with the advice of our Secretary of State.

19. Six of the most meritorious officers of the Army Medical Department shall be named our honorary physicians, and six our honorary surgeons.

20. Medical officers shall have a right to retire on half-pay after twenty years' service. Medical officers of the rank of Surgeon-Major or Surgeon shall be placed on the retired list at the age of 55, and all Surgeons-General and Deputy Surgeons-General at the age of 60 years.

21. Our Secretary of State may, when he shall deem it fit, employ medical officers on the half-pay list in special situations at such rates of pay, in addition to half-pay, as he shall from time to time determine; but such officers shall vacate their appointments on attaining the age of 65 years.

22. A medical officer who, having voluntarily resigned his commission, has subsequently been permitted to re-enter the department, shall not, except under very special circumstances, to be approved by our Secretary of State, be allowed to reckon his former service.

SERVICE ON THE WEST COAST OF AFRICA.

23. Service of medical officers upon the West Coast of Africa shall be voluntary.

24. Each year or portion of a year shall be allowed to reckon double towards retirement or towards the gratuities fixed by Articles 9 and 12, but not towards increased pay, provided that the officer shall serve at least twelve months on the West Coast of Africa.

25. For each year's service on the Coast, a medical officer shall be entitled to a year's leave at home, and for every additional period beyond a year he shall have an equivalent extension of leave.

26. Officers who may volunteer for service on the West Coast of Africa shall receive double pay while actually serving on the Coast.

NON-EFFECTIVE PAY.

27. A medical officer of more than ten years' service placed on half-pay by reduction of establishment, or on the report of a medical board in consequence of wounds or ill health, caused in and by the discharge of his duties, or on account of age (under Article 20), shall be entitled to half-pay in accordance with the following scale :—

Surgeon, after 10 years' service	0	10	0

28. The rate of half-pay awarded to officers retiring for their own convenience, after twenty years' service on full pay, under Article 20, shall not exceed one-half of their full pay at the time of retirement.

29. Every medical officer who shall retire after a service upon full pay of twenty-five years, shall be granted a rate of half-pay equal to seven-tenths of the daily pay he may have been in receipt of when thus retiring on half-pay, provided he shall have served three years in his rank, or shall have served abroad for ten years in all ranks, or for five years with an army in the field. An officer of twenty-years' full-pay service, whose service falls within neither of these conditions, shall be entitled to only seven-tenths of the daily pay he was in receipt of prior to his last promotion.

30. A medical officer of twenty years' full-pay service, placed temporarily on half-pay on account of ill health, may, however, be allowed to retire on permanent half-pay, at the rates fixed by Article 27, if after one year on half-pay he shall be reported by a medical board to be permanently unfit for further service.

31. In all matters not specially provided for in our present Warrant, the officers of the medical department of our army shall be subject to the General Regulations for the departments of our army.

N.B.—The rates of pay, including allowances, while serving in India, will range from 317 rupees (£31, 14s.) to 433 rupees (£43, 6s.) per month, according to length of service.

SCHEDULE OF QUALIFICATIONS

Necessary for Candidates desirous of obtaining Commissions in the Army Medical Department, with Extracts from the Regulations prescribed by the Royal Warrant of the 28th April 1876 (Clause 58, Army Circulars, 1876), by which the Pay, Promotion, and Retirement of Medical Officers are regulated and determined.

1. Every candidate desirous of presenting himself to compete for a commission in the Army Medical Department must be 21 years of age and not over 32 years at the date of commencement of the competitive examination. He must produce an extract from the register of his birth, or in default, a declaration, made before a magistrate by one of his parents or guardians, giving his exact age. He must also produce a recommendation from some person of standing in society—not a member of his own family—to the effect that he is of regular and steady habits, and likely in every respect to prove creditable to the department if a commission be granted; and also a certificate of moral character from the parochial clergyman, if possible.

2. The candidate must sign a declaration upon honour that both his parents are of unmixed European blood, and that he labours under no mental or constitutional disease, nor has any hereditary tendency thereto, nor any imperfection or disability that can interfere with the efficient discharge of the duties of a medical officer in any climate; also that he does not hold, and has never held, any commission or appointment in the public services.

His physical fitness will be determined by a board of medical officers, who are required to certify that the candidate's vision is sufficiently good to enable him to perform any surgical operation without the aid of glasses. A moderate degree of myopia will not be considered a disqualification, provided it does not necessitate the use of glasses during the performance of operations, and that no organic disease of the eyes exist.

The board must also certify that he is free from organic or other disease, and from constitutional weakness, or tendency thereto, or other disability of any kind likely to unfit him for military service in any climate.

3. Certificates of age, registration of diplomas, &c., and of character, must accompany the declaration when signed and returned.

4. Candidates will be examined by the examining board in the following compulsory subjects, and the highest number of marks attainable will be distributed as follows:—

	Marks.
a. Anatomy and physiology	1000
b. Surgery	1000
c. Medicine, including therapeutics, the diseases of women and children	1000
d. Chemistry and pharmacy, and a practical knowledge of drugs	100

N.B.—The examination in medicine and surgery will be in part practical, and will include operations on the dead body, the application of surgical apparatus, and the examination of medical and surgical patients at the bedside.

The eligibility of each candidate for the Army Medical Service will be determined by the result of the examinations in these subjects only.

Examinations will also be held in the following voluntary subjects, for which the maximum number of marks will be—

	Marks.
French and German (150 each)	300
Natural Sciences	300

The knowledge of modern languages being considered of great importance, all intending competitors are urged to qualify in French and German.

The natural sciences will include comparative anatomy, zoology, natural philosophy, physical geography, and botany, with special reference to materia medica.

The number of marks gained in both the voluntary subjects will be added to the total number of marks obtained by those who shall have been found qualified for admission, and whose position on the list of successful competitors will thus be improved in proportion to their knowledge of modern languages and natural sciences.

5. After passing this examination, every candidate will be required to attend one entire course of practical instruction at the Army Medical School on—

(1.) Hygiene.
(2.) Clinical and military medicine.
(3.) Clinical and military surgery.
(4.) Pathology of diseases and injuries incident to military service.

REGULATIONS AFFECTING MEDICAL OFFICERS TO MILITIA REGIMENTS.

The Royal Warrant, dated July 12th, 1876, accompanied by the Secretary of State's instruction thereon, contained important regulations with regard to the pay of medical officers of the Militia Auxiliary Force, and other matters affecting their position. It was intimated that medical officers of the militia who did not, before December 31st, signify their wish to be placed on a departmental list, should not be entitled to any of the advantages specified in the present Warrant. It was also announced that no further first appointments of medical officers will be made, after the date of this Warrant, to the militia, but that militia medical duties should be thenceforth performed under the orders of the Director-General of the Medical Department of the Army. The names of such medical officers of the militia as should elect to serve under the direct supervision of the Director-General of the Army Medical Department were placed on a departmental list, and the following rules have been established for their future guidance:—

DUTIES.

1. Medical officers of the militia who elect to be placed on a departmental list shall only be required to perform army medical duties during the embodiment of their regiment, or during training, or when present during preliminary drill, or recruit drill, or when ordered by competent authority, to perform during the non-training period, other medical duties connected with the militia, at the place where their regiment is stationed, or where such regiment recruits.

RANK.

2. Those who held the ranks of surgeon and assistant-surgeon on or before March 1, 1873, shall be commissioned as surgeon-major and surgeon respectively from that date.

3. Those who have been appointed to the rank of assistant-surgeon, or promoted to the rank of surgeon, between the 1st March 1873, and the date of our present Warrant, shall be commissioned as surgeon and surgeon-major respectively, from the date of such appointment or promotion.

4. Medical officers of the militia promoted to the rank of surgeon under our present warrant shall, on the completion of twelve years' service from the date of first appointment, be eligible for promotion to the rank of surgeon-major.

5. Surgeons-major and surgeons promoted to those ranks as aforesaid, shall take rank with medical officers of our regular forces as juniors of such ranks in the manner following:—

(a) A surgeon-major shall rank as major, according to the date of his commission; and after twenty years' service as surgeon and surgeon-major he shall rank as lieutenant-colonel, but junior of the latter rank.

(b) A surgeon shall rank as lieutenant, according to the date of his commission; and after six years' service, as captain, according to the date of the completion of such service.

PAY AND ALLOWANCES.

6. The rates of pay of the medical officers of the militia during embodiment, preliminary drill, or training, shall be as follow:—Surgeon-major, £1 daily; surgeon, 13s. 8d. Their quarters and allowances shall be regulated by their relative rank, as defined in Article 5.

7. Medical officers of the militia who, when performing any of the duties enumerated in Article 1, are in receipt of the full pay and allowances of their rank, shall be liable to be called upon to examine recruits for our regular forces without being entitled to claim any additional pay or remuneration.

8. The allowance to medical officers of the militia for medicines shall not be granted during the training of a militia regiment at a brigade depot, or at a station where there is a military hospital from which medicine can be furnished.

9. The allowances granted to medical officers of the militia for the expenses of necessary medicines and attendance for the non-commissioned officers and men of the permanent staff, and for their wives and families, while the militia regiment is not out for training, shall not be granted when the head-quarters of the regiment are at a brigade depot.

10. Nothing contained in our present Warrant shall be held as giving to any medical officer of the militia a claim to any pension or retiring allowance granted to medical officers of our regular forces.

The following are the Secretary of State's instructions on the Warrant:—

1. In all cases where battalions of militia are called out for training, they will be under the general administration of the principal medical officer of the district. The medical officer of the militia battalion will, under all circumstances, be in immediate charge of his battalion.

2. The medical administration of the brigade depot or other army hospital will, during the training of the militia, remain in the hands of the army medical officer in charge, without reference to seniority of rank.

3. There shall be only one medical officer upon the establishment of a battalion of militia during disembodiment, and supernumary officers shall be absorbed as vacancies occur.

4. When a battalion of militia requires the services of a second medical officer, the Army Medical Department will provide such officer.

5. Militia recruits will be examined by an army medical officer whenever available, at or near the place of enlistment. When not available, the examination will be made by the militia medical officer, or the nearest civil practitioner who is registered for the examination of recruits, preference being given to the former when equally accessible.

6. The medical officers of the militia will also attend the permanent staff of the militia and their families during the non-training period, according to the rules prescribed by existing regulations, when the head-quarters are not at the brigade depot; but when the head-quarters are at the brigade depot, the permanent staff and their families will be attended by the medical officers of the brigade depot.

7. Militia recruits, when trained at a brigade depot, or at an army station, will be under the medical charge of the army medical officer.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE EXAMINATION OF RECRUITS FOR THE MILITIA.

1. In the inspection of recruits for the militia, examining surgeons must be guided by their judgment and experience in determining whether the men possess the physical capacity requisite for discharging the military duties of a militia soldier for the term of six years.

2. The militiaman's duties are limited to home service, and are in many respects less onerous than those of a soldier serving in the regular army.

HEIGHT AND CHEST MEASUREMENT.

3. The standard height of militiamen is 5 feet 4 inches for infantry, and 5 feet 6 inches for artillery; but should eligible recruits of 5 feet 3 inches offer themselves, they may be accepted for the infantry only. Growing lads between 16 and 18 may be accepted for infantry, if not under 5 feet 2 inches, and for artillery if not under 5 feet 5 inches.

4. As a general rule, the minimum chest measurement should not be less than 32 inches; but this will be left to the discretion and judgment of the examining medical officer, particularly with reference to growing lads.

MODE OF EXAMINING RECRUITS.

5. The principal points to be attended to are—

(a) That the recruit is of healthy aspect, and does not present an appearance of feeble health, or impaired constitution from existing or previous disease.

(b) That he is sufficiently intelligent.

(c) That his vision is good, or at least sufficiently good to enable him with the right eye to discern objects clearly at not less than 300 yards.

(d) That his power of hearing and speaking is sufficient for practical purposes.

(e) That the capacity of the chest is fairly proportioned to his stature, and that the heart and lungs are healthy.

(f) That he is not ruptured.

(g) That the limbs are properly formed and developed, and the motion of the joints satisfactory.

6. The presence of varicose veins of one or both lower extremities, or varicocele, or flat feet, need not be considered causes of disqualification, unless the extent of these defects be such, as in the judgment of the examining surgeon, would interfere with the recruit's present or future efficiency.

ALLOWANCE FOR MEDICINE AND ATTENDANCE.

Whenever the Head-quarters of the Regiment is not at a Brigade Depot, per Royal Warrant, as above.

An allowance of 2d. per week for the adjutant and for each of the non-commissioned officers and drummers on the disembodied staff at head-quarters, and for each of their wives and children, is granted for the expense of necessary medicine and attendance, supplied to the said adjutant, non-commissioned officers and drummers and their families, while not called out for training and exercise. The item becomes a charge in the adjutant's annual pay list, and must be vouched by his certificate of the actual number of persons for whom the allowance is strictly chargeable, and by the receipt of the surgeon or other medical practitioner who shall attend the staff.

The surgeon, when not in receipt of training pay, will also be allowed 2s. 6d. for examining each sergeant discharged on account of medical unfitness, and for each sergeant or drummer, when necessarily examined on appointment to the permanent staff

PRIVATE MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS.

The fees payable to private medical practitioners for volunteers examined, whether approved or rejected, are to be vouched by a certified statement of the names of the volunteers, the dates on which they were examined, and by the receipt of the private practitioner.

SICK MEN.

Men taken seriously ill during the period of training may be sent for treatment into military hospitals, if practicable, the cases being immediately reported to the Director-General of the Army and Ordnance Medical Department.

PAYMENT TO CIVIL PRACTITIONERS FOR MILITARY ATTENDANCE.

Article 299 of the Pay Warrant states :—When a Detachment of our army shall be without a Surgeon or Assistant Surgeon, and not within reach of any Military Medical Officer, a Private Practitioner may be engaged by the Commanding Officer of the Detachment, at the undermentioned weekly rates for each person belonging to the Detachment, including any other Military Parties at the same Station.

	If Medicine supplied.	Without Medicine.
For each person up to 50 inclusive,	2d.	1½d
For each person over 50 in addition	1½d.	1d.

All charges for these allowances are to be settled quarterly, if the Practitioner shall have the medical charge during the entire quarter, or immediately on the termination of the service, if during less than a quarter.

When the payment to a Civilian amounts to two pounds or more, his receipt for the same is required to be given on duly stamped paper.

MEDICAL OFFICERS SERVING IN THE IRISH COMMAND.

Since the Unification of the Army Medical Department the duration of service of a Medical Officer in any district is so uncertain, and the changes so frequent, that an annual list becomes valueless. We, therefore, discontinue publication of the list hitherto contained in the Irish Medical Directory.

RANK AND RETIREMENT.

4th February, 1875.

My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty having had under their consideration the position of the Medical Officers of the Navy, are pleased, under the authority of her Majesty's Order in Council, to establish the following regulations:—

1. Surgeons on entry to have the same relative rank as Paymasters, Chief Engineers, and Naval Instructors, namely, to rank with Lieutenants under eight years' seniority, and to wear uniform corresponding to such relative rank.

2. Staff Surgeons to be denominated "Fleet Surgeons," and Staff Surgeons Second-class simply "Staff Surgeons;" the distinction in rank between these two grades to be denoted by a small difference in the uniform of the Staff Surgeon, who, instead of three stripes of gold lace round the sleeve of the coat, which the Fleet Surgeon will wear, will wear two stripes of gold lace with a stripe of narrow gold braid between.

3. Inspectors-General to be compulsorily retired at the age of 60; to be allowed £2 per day, provided they shall have completed the period of service now required to entitle them to the maximum half-pay of their rank: should they not have completed such period of service, they will be retired at the rate of half or retired pay specified in the Order in Council of 22nd February 1870.

4. Deputy Inspectors-General to be compulsorily retired at 60; if in the first six of their rank, to be allowed 33s., others 30s. per diem, provided that they shall have completed the period of service now required to entitle them to the maximum half-pay of their rank; should they not have completed such period of service, they will be retired at the rate of half or retired pay specified in the Order in Council of 22nd February 1870.

5. Fleet Surgeons and Staff Surgeons to be placed on the same scale of retirement as Chaplains and Naval Instructors, Secretaries, and Paymasters; that is, the maximum to be £450 per year instead of £400.

6. Fleet Surgeons to have the option of retiring after twenty years' full pay service in all ranks at 15s. per day, and after twenty-five years' full pay service at 21s., subject in each case to their Lordships' approval, but of those now on the list not more than ten to retire under this clause in each year (the officers having the option according to seniority), unless their Lordships should approve (with the consent of the Treasury) of a larger number so retiring. Applications from officers wishing to retire under this clause should be lodged at the Admiralty before the 30th November in each year, in order that they may be dealt with, according to seniority, before the end of the year.

7. All Medical Officers hereafter entered to have the option of so retiring, subject to the approval of their Lordships in each case.

RANK, PAY, AND POSITION OF NAVAL MEDICAL OFFICERS.

1. Promotion to the rank of Fleet Surgeon of higher class is open to Officers for distinguished or special service, although twenty years on Full Pay may not have been completed ; such Fleet Surgeons will have 16s. a-day Half Pay.

2. Fleet Surgeons rank with Commanders, according to date of Commission.

3. The whole time served on Full Pay as a Surgeon to be allowed to Staff Surgeons to qualify for the rank of Fleet Surgeon, provided the examination for Staff Surgeon is passed before the Officer completes ten years' service, otherwise only ten years served as Surgeon will be allowed to count.

4. Fleet Surgeons are appointed to the Flag Ships of Commanders-in-Chief on Foreign Stations, with an allowance of 5s. a-day in addition to their established pay.

The Candidates who pass with Honors will be arranged in two classes.

Medical Examinations are held in June and in September and October.

The June Examinations are Pass Examinations.

Those held in September include both Honor and Pass Examinations.

Each Candidate for Examination in June must forward to the Secretary, on or before the 1st of June, notice of his intention to offer himself as a Candidate, along with his Certificates; and each Candidate for Examination in September must forward similar notice, along with his Certificates, on or before the 1st of September.

Before being admitted to Examination, each Candidate must produce satisfactory evidence of having completed the prescribed courses of study in the subjects of Examination.

The course of Experimental Physics includes the rudiments of Mechanics, Hydrostatics, Pneumatics, Acoustics, Optics, Heat, Electricity, and Magnetism, as represented by Newth's First Book of Natural Philosophy, Stewart's Elementary Physics, and the easier parts of Everett's Deschanel or of Atkinson's Ganot. The Honor Course in Experimental Physics is represented by Newth's First Natural Philosophy, and most of Everett's Deschanel, or most of Atkinson's Ganot, the parts to be omitted being those which involve an extensive use of Mathematics.

The Examination in Zoology will consist of questions on the anatomy and classification either of the Vertebrate or Invertebrate Animals—the selection between these two groups to be made by the Candidate at the time of Examination.

The Examination in Botany to be the same as that prescribed for the Examination for the Degree of B.A. without Honors. Oliver's Lessons in Elementary Botany, and parts I. and III. of Henfrey's Elementary Course of Botany (Second Edition by Masters) are the text-books recommended.

The Candidates will be expected to possess a practical acquaintance (that is, such a knowledge as can only be obtained by a study of the plants themselves) with the following natural orders—viz., Ranunculaceæ, Cruciferæ, Leguminosæ, Rosaceæ, Umbelliferæ, Compositæ, Scrophularineæ, Solaneæ, Borragineæ, Labiatæ, Euphorbiaceæ, Cupuliferæ, Coniferæ, Aroidiæ, Orchidiæ, Liliaceæ, and Gramineæ, in addition to what they may learn from Oliver's Lessons as to the structure of these and other orders described in Part II. of that work. Candidates will also bear in mind the necessity of being able to distinguish the orders named from the principal allied orders.

The Candidates who pass with Honors will be arranged in two classes: they will receive Prizes and Certificates of Honor.

Two Exhibitions founded by public subscription, one consisting of two instalments of £20 each, the other of two instalments of £15 each, will be awarded to the best answerers at the Honor Examinations, if they be recommended by the Examiners as possessed of sufficient absolute merit. For further regulations regarding these Exhibitions, see the University Calendar.

is divided into two parts, known as the first and second halves.

The Junior Class must produce certificates of—

This class is examined in anatomy, histology, physiology, materia medica, and chemistry.

The Senior Class must produce certificates of—a, Three courses on surgery; b, one on practice of medicine; and c, one on midwifery; also attendance on a recognised hospital for three winter and three summer sessions. This class is examined in surgery, operative surgery and appliances, practice of medicine, medical jurisprudence, and prescriptions.

The fees are: £5 5s. as registered pupil of the College; £5 5s. for the junior class examination, which is not returned in case of rejection, but is allowed in the fee for his second examination; £15 15s. for the senior class examination —total £26 15s.

Pupils who neglect registering themselves previous to going in for the preliminary examination must pay ten shillings for that examination, to which, however, registered pupils, in addition to their other privileges, are free.

Every candidate rejected at the quarterly examination is required to pay to the College the sum of £2 2s. on applying for re-examination.

METHOD OF EXAMINATION.—Candidates must return their names to the Registrar, and lodge their fees and certificates, one clear week before the day. Each candidate has a number assigned to him, by which alone he will be recognised during the examination.

JUNIOR CLASS.—The candidates are examined in alphabetical order, and the examination occupies three days: 1st day, dissection; 2nd day, written examination on anatomy, physiology, histology, materia medica, and chemistry; 3rd day, viva voce examination on the same subjects. No candidate can proceed to the second day who has not passed the first; or to the third, who has not passed the second.

FIRST DAY, DISSECTION.—Two examiners and six candidates being allotted to each of the subjects, the hours of examination being from 10 to 12 a.m., 12 to 2, and 2 to 4 o'clock p.m. Each candidate first makes a dissection of a region allotted to him, half an hour, at least, being given him for this purpose. Then he is examined on the anatomy of that part, as well as upon that of those other regions which have been dissected by other of the candidates. The viva voce part of this examination is to be conducted by the two examiners conjointly—one candidate only being thus examined at a time on each subject. When the examination is over, the whole Court of Examiners assembles and adjudges the marks. The numbers of the candidates who have passed are posted in the hall of the College in alphabetical order, stating that they are eligible to go in for the second day's written examination.

Second Day, Written Examination.—Four hours are devoted to the written examination : two hours, from 10 to 12 o'clock, a.m., to anatomy and histology ; and two hours, from 2 to 4 o'clock, p.m., to physiology, materia medica, and chemistry. Eight questions in anatomy are printed and given to each candidate, an answer to four of them only being required. If any candidate has completed his paper before the end of the two hours, he may leave the hall upon handing his answers to the examiner. The examination in histology is part of the written examination, and shall be thus conducted : Two slides of different subjects are placed under two microscopes, and marked A, B. Five minutes are allowed to examine them ; he then goes to his place and writes his answer. Two similar slides are to be placed at the other end of the table, to be examined by the candidates in a similar manner. Each candidate separately inspects either set of slides. During the second two hours (2 to 4 o'clock), three questions in physiology, two in materia medica, and two in chemistry are given, the candidate's English and orthography being taken into account in adjudicating his marks.

Third Day, Viva Voce.—The eight examiners are summoned to attend on each day at 4 o'clock, p.m., and two of them attend each candidate for one quarter of an hour at four separate tables—viz., three on anatomy and physiology, and one on materia medica and chemistry ; one conducting the examination, and the other listening. Each examiner, at the conclusion of each examination expresses his opinion of same by "marks," and hands the marks to the councillor presiding at such examination. When the examination is over, the whole court assembles and adjudicates upon the marks. When the voting papers have been examined and the result declared, the number of each successful candidate is posted up next day in the College hall, and is enrolled in a book kept for that purpose in the College.

The examination of the Senior Class occupies four days. 1st day, written examination on surgery, practice of medicine, medical jurisprudence, and prescriptions ; 2nd day, viva voce examination on surgery and practice of medicine ; 3rd day, clinical examination ; 4th day, operative surgery.

First Day, Written Examinations.—Four hours are devoted to the written examinations, which are thus to be allotted—From 10 to 12 a.m., to surgery. The number of surgical questions shall be six. From 2 to 4 p.m., to practice of medicine, medical jurisprudence, and prescriptions. Two printed questions shall be given in practice of medicine, two in medical jurisprudence, and two in prescriptions.

Second Day.—The viva voce examination on surgery and practice of medicine is to be conducted similarly to that of the junior class.

Third Day.—At the clinical examination, two examiners are allotted to each batch of 10 candidates. No candidate is to be examined in the hospital where he has been educated. The name of the hospital where each batch of candidates is to assemble for examination is to be posted in the hall of the College, immediately before the hour of meeting there. Each candidate takes notes of a case allotted to him, is questioned upon that or some other case, and is called upon to bandage or apply some surgical appliance.

Fourth Day, Operative Surgery.—The examinations in operative surgery shall be conducted by the four surgical examiners, who shall meet previously for Students in this Division are required to attend the Lectures of the Professor of Applied Mathematics. They are also required to attend the Lectures of the Professor of Applied Chemistry, and to go through a further course of Practical Chemistry.

The instruction given by the Professor of Applied Mathematics and Mechanism is partly of a practical character. The students are exercised in the actual performance of Experiments in Mechanics and Hydrostatics, and they will be afforded opportunities as far as possible for acquainting themselves practically with the use of Tools and Machines.

The Demonstrator in Palæontology gives instruction, during the Second Term of the session, to students of the third year. These demonstrations are also open to any student who is attending, or has during the preceding Session attended, the Lectures either of the Professor of Geology, of Zoology, or of Botany.

A Diploma of Associateship of the College will be given to students who pass in all the subjects of the first two years, and in those of any one division of the third year. They will be required to take the higher Pass, as "Pass with Credit," in the following subjects :—

Division A.

Mining, Geology, Metallurgy.

Division B.

Agriculture, Agricultural Chemistry.

Division C.

Applied Mathematics (one course), Drawing, Engineering.

Division D.

Applied Chemistry, Laboratory Practice.

Students may also enter for the separate courses, and receive Certificates after Examination. A Certificate of Attendance in the Chemical Laboratory is not given for any course less than three months.

There are four Royal Scholarships of £50 yearly each, with free education, tenable for two years ; two will become vacant each year. They will be given to students who shall have been a year in the College.

There are also nine royal Exhibitions attached to the College, of £50 each, tenable for three years.

These Scholarships and Exhibitions are tenable only on the condition that the holders shall attend regularly all the Lectures of their respective years. This condition is strictly enforced by the Department. They must also pass the Examinations at the end of the Session.

Students at the conclusion of their first Academic year are examined in the subjects of that year. Prizes are awarded for superior answering in each branch. The award of the Royal Scholarships is made on the result of this examination to those students, not Royal Exhibitioners, who on the whole have answered best, if sufficiently deserving to be recommended for them.

At the conclusion of the second year similar examinations are held and prizes awarded.

A Medal is awarded at the conclusion of the second year to that student who, on the total results of both years, shall have most distinguished himself—if sufficient merit be shown.

At the conclusion of the third year similar examinations are held and prizes awarded.

To candidates for the Associateship whose knowledge of pure Mathematics is not sufficiently advanced, the Professor of Applied Mathematics gives such instruction as is necessary. These lectures may also be attended by other students. Prizes will be awarded for proficiency at the end of the first and second years.

During the Session short courses of evening lectures of a more popular character will be delivered, the particulars respecting which will be duly announced.

The Chemical and Metallurgical Laboratories, under the direction of Professor Galloway, are open every week-day during the Session (except Saturday, and the usual holidays) from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M.

The Library contains carefully selected works relating to the subjects on which instruction is given; it is open to the students, and also to the public under certain restrictions.

The Museum is open to the public on week-days from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M.

The Session commences on the first Monday in October in each year, and lasts until 21st June following, with a vacation of ten days at Christmas, and of a week at Easter.

The First Term commences on the first Monday in October, and the Second Term on the first Monday in February.

The Examinations are held at the close of the Session.

Exhibitioners, Scholars, and Associate Students are required to be in attendance at the College during the entire of each Session, unless exempted by special permission of the Council. All Students attending the Examinations are expected to be in attendance until the results are declared.

The Fees payable are—

£2 for each separate Course of Lectures;

The fee for Associate Students for Practical Instruction in the Chemical Laboratory during the entire Session is £6 for the first year, and £4 for the second year. The College supplies these Students with all apparatus and re-agents free of any charge.

The fee for Occasional Students for Practical Instruction in the Chemical Laboratory is £2 per month, £5 for three months, or £12 for the entire Session.

Students entering for the purpose of obtaining the Diploma of Associate, or intending to compete for the Scholarships, pay £10 each year, which will admit them to all the Courses of that year, exclusive of Laboratory—or £25 for the whole Studentship of three years.

The Fees are in all cases payable in advance.

The holders of Royal Scholarships or Royal Exhibitions pay no Fees.

EXHIBITIONS AND FREE ADMISSIONS AT THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SCIENCE FOR IRELAND.

Royal Exhibitions.

1. There are nine Royal Exhibitions of the value of £50 per annum, entitling the holders to free admission to all the lectures, and to the Chemical and Metallurgical Laboratories, to be held from year to year for three years, on the condition that the holder attends the Lectures regularly during those years, and passes the Examinations required for the Associateship of the College.

Three of the above Royal Exhibitions will be open for competition annually, at the May Examinations of the Science and Art Department.

All persons over 21 years of age, excepting artisans and such as come within the category of persons paid upon under the Science Directory, will be excluded from competing for the Royal Exhibitions. Special cases, however, must be determined according to the spirit of the rules, and the object of the endowment.

The competition for the Royal Exhibitions will be determined in the following way :—

The maximum number of marks obtainable in each subject, except Mathematics, will be in the

Elementary Stage . . .	100
Advanced Stage . . .	200
Honours	400

In Mathematics the numbers will be in the

1st Stage . . .	100
2nd ,, . . .	200
3rd ,, . . .	300	Honours 500
4th ,, . . .	150
5th ,, . . .	300	Honours 500
6th ,, . . .	200
7th ,, . . .	400	Honours 600

But in each case the number of marks gained in the Elementary Stage (or in the 1st stage in Mathematics) will be diminished by the minimum number required to pass in that stage, and the number of marks gained in the other stages will be diminished by 20 per cent. of the marks obtainable in that stage.

The remainder will then be added together to determine the candidate's position.

But no candidate will be allowed to take an Exhibition who has not obtained at least as many marks as are required for a second class in stage 2 of Mathematics.

Free Admissions.

2. Free admissions to the Lectures at the Royal College of Science, Dublin, are granted to any person who takes a gold medal in the May Examination of the Science and Art Department.

Perons desirous of obtaining further information may apply to the Secretary of the College.

Syllabuses of the several courses of instruction and Programmes may be had on application at the College, or by letter to the Secretary.

THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY.

Chancellor.—His Eminence PAUL CULLEN, D.D., Archbishop of Dublin, Apostolic Delegate.

Vice-Chancellor.—His Grace the Most Rev. JOHN MACHALE, D.D., Archbishop of Tuam.

Secretary.—THOMAS SCRATTAN, B.A., 85 Stephen's Green, S., Dublin.

The names of the Professors of the School of the University will be found at a preceding page.

The Synod of the Roman Catholic Prelates, which was held at Thurles in 1850, determined to establish a University, and appointed a Committee consisting of the four Archbishops, four Suffragan Bishops, eight other ecclesiastics, and eight laymen to collect funds and make other necessary preliminary arrangements. The synodal meeting held at Dublin in May 1854 formally established the University. The Schools were opened on 3rd November 1854.

The Roman Catholic University has no endowment or settled property, and depends for its maintenance wholly upon the voluntary contributions of the Roman Catholic people of Ireland. The first general collection for this purpose was held on St. Patrick's Day, 17th March 1851; and similar collections are now held annually all over the country on the third Sunday of November. Notwithstanding the precarious character of this support, yet up to the 1st December 1871, over £170,000 had been received, almost exclusively in this way.

The University Church, the Library, and the Mineralogical and Natural History Cabinets, and the principal Lecture Halls and central Offices are situated in Stephen's Green. The School of Medicine, with its Museum and Chemical Laboratory, are situated in Cecilia Street. There are five Faculties:—Theology, Law, Medicine, Philosophy and Letters, and Science, of which the last three are in operation.

The Entrance Examination includes one Latin and one Greek author, selected by the Candidate out of a prescribed list, the elements of Geometry and Algebra, of Ancient and Modern History and Geography, Latin Prose Composition, &c. About the middle of the course the Scholarship Examination is held, when the student is examined in the principal subjects of his previous studies, including the Classical authors, some Modern Language and Literature, and some branch of Science such as Mathematics, Logic, &c. At the end of three Sessions he can be admitted to the Bachelorship Examination, which includes Religious Knowledge, Classical Literature, Science, and History. For distinguished proficiency in any of those branches honors may be assigned.

Corresponding Examinations are held for the students who follow the special course of Mathematics and Physical Sciences, and aspire to the rank of Bachelor of Science.

The Undergraduate course of studies extends over three Sessions, and includes the Greek and Latin Languages and Literature, Modern Languages and Literature, elementary and higher Mathematics, Mathematical Physics, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Logic and Mental Philosophy, Ethics and Social Philosophy and Political Economy, Ancient and Modern and Irish History and Geography.

The University Session commences on the second Monday of October, and continues to the second Saturday of July. It consists of three Terms—Michaelmas, Hilary, and Easter.

In accordance with a resolution adopted by the Roman Catholic Prelates, at their meeting in October 1873, a considerable number of Roman Catholic Colleges throughout Ireland have been affiliated to the University, and their students admitted to certain of its privileges.

The MEDICAL SCHOOLS and HOSPITALS of DUBLIN.

THE Clinical Hospitals of Dublin are ten in number, exclusive of the Lying-in Hospitals, Cork-street Fever Hospital, the Children's Hospitals, Eye and Ear Infirmaries, Orthopædic Hospitals, &c. To some of these institutions Medical Schools are attached; others, though they have no actual or official connection with any school, are in close affinity with certain teaching bodies, while others again are without any special relation to any school. While, however, such affiliation of a school and hospital may exist, it should be remembered that the Dublin Schools and Hospitals are open to all comers, and the Student is competent to attend any hospital and any school he wishes.

THE SCHOOL OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS

The dissecting-rooms are open from October 1st. A Junior Exhibition of £15, a Senior Exhibition of £25, and Honorary Certificates are awarded at the end of the Winter Session.

"The School of Physic in Ireland" is a Medical School formed by an amalgamation of the Schools of Trinity College and of the College of Physicians.

It is constituted by the Statute of 40th Geo. III., cap. 84; and the Statute of 30th Vict., cap. 9.

The School is governed jointly by the Provost and Senior Fellows of Trinity College, and by the President and Fellows of the College of Physicians.

In the year 1710 the first mention is made in the College Register, of Lectures in Anatomy, Chemistry, and Botany, in the University. On the 14th of June in that year, ground was laid out for a Laboratory and Anatomical Theatre.

15th October, 1715. A Charter, 2 George I., was obtained incorporating the Professorship of Physic agreeably to the rules laid down in Sir P. Dun's Deed.

An University Anatomist was first appointed in 1716.

1800. In this year the Act commonly called the "School of Physick Act," 40th George III., was passed, repealing portions of the former Acts, and creating the School of Physic as it now exists.

The Meath Hospital, containing one hundred and twenty beds, and now in the 124th year of its existence, ranks among the oldest of the charitable institutions of this city, founded for the relief of the sick poor. It is situated on the southern side of the city, upon about three acres of ground, formerly called "The Dean's Vineyard," purchased in 1816, by the Committee, from the Dean and Chapter of St. Patrick's, for the sum of £1,126, free of rent. The original Meath Hospital, situated on the Coombe, was opened 2nd March, 1753. The foundation-stone of a new Meath Hospital, on the Coombe (now the Coombe Lying-in-Hospital), was laid out by Lord Brabazon, 10th October, 1770. This Hospital was, in 1774, constituted the County Dublin Infirmary, by Act of Parliament. The present building, in Heytesbury Street, was opened for the reception of patients 24th December, 1822, since which time the building has undergone very considerable enlargements and improvements. In 1830, the Theatre for Operations and Lectures was erected, at a cost of £900, by the then Medical Board. In 1852-3, the Collis Wards were added as a memorial to Maurice Collis, twenty-five years Surgeon to the Hospital; their cost, amounting to £480, was contributed by his relations and friends. In 1865, £682 were subscribed for a memorial to Josiah Smyly, thirty years Surgeon to the Hospital, and the "Smyly Ward," built for the special accommodation of children, was opened by the Lord Lieutenant, Lord Wodehouse.

Sir Patrick Dun's Hospital was founded by the School of Physic Act in 1800; and is now governed by the directions laid down in that statute, and in the School of Physic Amendment Act, 1867.

By the Statute 21 Geo. III., the College of Physicians was empowered to raise £1000 to build an hospital; but the professors contested the construction of this Act, and so nothing was done in that way until after 1800, when the School of Physic Act gave more clear and extended powers.

Under the direct patronage of Her Majesty the Queen.

This extern midwifery department of Sir Patrick Dun's Hospital was founded in 1869, is under the control of the Board of Governors of Sir P. Dun's Hospital, and under the direction and management of Dr. E. B. Sinclair, King's Professor of Midwifery.

In connexion with the Maternity there is a ward in the hospital for the admission of diseases peculiar to females, and clinical instruction is given twice a week by the King's Professor.

The average number of persons in labour attended at their homes is 600 annually, and is increasing.

Two systematic courses of lectures on midwifery are delivered each year in the theatre of the hospital for female pupils. Each course is of six months' duration, and the lectures are given on three days of the week.

The civilian and army midwives are instructed together.

This well-known institution is the largest and oldest maternity hospital in the United Kingdom, and the repute in which it is held attracts students from all parts of the world. It consists in point of fact of two distinct hospitals, namely, the Lying-in Hospital into which above 1,200 cases are admitted annually, and the west wing, a large detached building devoted exclusively to the reception of patients labouring under the various forms of uterine disease, about 500 such cases are admitted annually. The whole hospital is under the care of the Master, who is elected every seven years, and two assistants who hold their appointments for three years. There is, in addition, an external maternity department, the patients being attended at their homes; also, a dispensary is held daily for diseases of women and children.

A student entering for the practice of the hospital pays a fee of £10 10s. for six months. During that time he is required to attend at least thirty cases either within the walls of the hospital or at the residence of patients who may apply for assistance. For this course of study, on examination, a diploma is given, which is received as a qualification in midwifery in the public services.

A limited number of students are admitted to reside in the hospital, who can enter for any time not less than one month, for which they pay a fee of twenty guineas for six months, or a proportionate fee for a shorter term.

For further particulars see advertisement, or apply to the Master or Assistant Physicians.

Board-room, 35 Molesworth-street, where the Governors meet the third Wednesday in each month.

Admission Committee Room, Molesworth-place, where patients are seen every Saturday morning, at ten o'clock.

This Institution was opened in 1868, with the object of meeting a want supplied by no other charity, namely, to provide the advantages of country air and good food to poor artisans and others, who, when discharged from hospital, or recovering from illness at their own homes, unable to return to labour, and without means to procure such requisites as their invalid condition demands, would otherwise languish in prolonged weakness and distress. The Institution is wholly unsectarian, and conducted on the broadest principles of Christian philanthropy.

A donation of twenty guineas constitutes a life governor, or of five guineas a governor for one year, and qualifies the donor to join in the management. The Institution is altogether dependent on voluntary contributions, which are earnestly solicited.

The Medical Officers are elected by the Governors.

The patients are elected by the Governors. On the day of election they attend before the Board, and present a petition, which attests their name and abode, their circumstances, age, infirmity, and moral character. After examination by the Physicians, the Governors select the most helpless and miserable, taking into consideration the nature of their disease, age, and character. The Governors act on the principle of giving a preference to those whose sufferings are most acute, and at the same time admit of alleviation from the medical treatment and care which the hospital affords. Cases of malignant cancer and advanced consumption are usually considered by the Governors as conferring a sad pre-eminence in affliction and deserving of an early admission. There is generally an attendance of thirty wretched candidates, almost all of whom are fit objects, and yet often there is but one vacancy.

ROYAL MEDICAL BENEVOLENT FUND SOCIETY OF IRELAND.

Patron—Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen.
Vice-Patron—The Lord Lieutenant.

Founded in 1842 by William Kingsley, M.D., F.R.C.S.I.

For the relief of Medical men, under severe and urgent distress, occasioned by sickness, accident, or any other calamity.

Under circumstances of peculiar emergency, relief is extended to the Widows and Orphans of Physicians and Surgeons, it being understood that it is not the design of this Fund to relieve Medical men from the necessity of providing for their families by ordinary life assurance, or such other means as prudence dictates.

The claims of contributors, as far as possible, have the preference, but contributions to the Fund give no claim of right to relief. The Fund being one of pure benevolence, each application is judged according to the urgency of the distress.

The Society was formed for the cultivation of Natural History, and the investigation of the Topography, Statistics, and Antiquities of Ireland. Subsequently, the range of subjects became more extensive, it being agreed to receive communications on all branches of physical science and their applications. The Society erected the Belfast Museum in 1830, and holds its meetings therein. The Meetings for the reading of papers are held during the winter months, at the Museum, College Square North, Belfast. The Annual Meeting is held in May or June. This Museum (which is the first ever erected in Ireland by private subscription) was founded in 1830, and is open daily (Sundays excepted) from twelve till four o'clock. It contains collections specially illustrating the Fauna, Flora, Geology, Fossils, &c., of the North of Ireland. The internal arrangements are under the care of the Council for the time being.

A FEW HINTS UPON LIFE ASSURANCE,*

FOR THE INFORMATION OF INTENDING ASSURERS.

A complete list of all the Insurance Companies having Special Offices and Resident Secretaries in Ireland—with Tabular Statement of the Annual Premiums at all ages—will be found at end of these "Hints."

I. The object of Life Assurance is to secure a Capital sum of money to be paid to a Wife or Children—or Relations—or Friends—or Creditors, at the death of the party upon whose life an Assurance is made.

A. B. is about to be married. He is a lawyer, or a merchant, or a clerk in a public office, or a clergyman, having an income varying from £500 to £1,500 per annum, and he has no ready money, no capital in reversion or expectancy, wherewith to make a settlement upon his Wife or Children, if he should have any; or to pay any debts which he may have contracted, if he should die without accumulating any savings out of his income. Under these circumstances A. B. takes out an Assurance upon his life, say for £1,000 or £2,000—and this he does by setting apart a portion of his income, say £25 or £50 per annum, for such purpose. Thus A. B. is enabled in one moment as it were to accumulate a capital of £1,000 or £2,000, to be payable at his death for any purposes as above, although at the time of making his Assurance he is not worth a farthing, save what he is receiving in the way of annual income.

II. Life Assurance Offices grant Assurances upon life to A. B., C. D., E. F., &c., upon certain specified terms and conditions. Such offices are to be considered as the Assurers, and A. B., C. D., &c., as the Assured. It is not, however, unusual to speak of A. B., C. D., as being the Assurers, but this is not strictly correct.

III. Annual Premiums.—A. B. being desirous of taking out an Assurance upon his life, inquires what he shall be required to pay for it annually. For this information he is referred to a Table of Annual Premiums, where in a line with his age is shown the payment to be made for an Assurance of £100 upon his life, and so in a rateable proportion for any larger amount—such payment to be made on the day of the Assurance being completed, and again on the same day in every subsequent year during his life, provided it be not previously extinguished or reduced by means of Bonus. Payments of this kind pass under the name of "Annual Premiums."

IV. The purpose of Annual Premiums.—Annual Premiums are applied to the accumulating a fund in reserve sufficient to pay claims for all sums assured as they respectively become due at the deaths of those upon whose lives Assurances have been made.

V. Annual Premium Table.—The formation of an Annual Premium Table stands as it were upon two feet: "the course which mortality may be expected to take amongst the Assured" is one; and the second is "the probable rate of interest obtainable upon money during the continuance of their Assurances." If by investigating duration of life in past generations we can ascertain what term of years A. B., being now 20, or 30, or 40, &c., years of age, may in accordance with experience so obtained be expected to live, we at once are enabled to calculate how much A. B. will, according to his age at the date of taking out an Assurance, be required to pay annually during the term of his life, in order that a sufficient capital may be accumulated wherewith to pay at his death the amount assured upon his life. Given, for instance, that when his Assurance is made A. B. is 24 next birth-day, and that at such age he, according to experience as above, may be expected to live 38½ years,* then putting aside for the present any consideration of interest to accrue upon money to be paid by him, it would be required that he should pay down at once and afterwards annually for an Assurance of £1,000 upon his life a premium of £25 19s. 6d. For £25 19s. 6d. × 38½ = £1,000.

When, however, we take interest obtainable upon money into consideration, it is obvious that if premiums when they are annually paid can be immediately invested so that compound interest may accrue upon them, a less annual premium than £25 19s. 6d. would suffice to produce an accumulated capital of £1,000 in 38½ years. It would, in fact, at first sight appear in this case that the proper Annual Premium for every Assurance effected at the age of 24 would be ascertained by taking that precise sum, which being improved at compound interest of 3½ per cent. during 38½ years, would at the end of that term be found to have produced £1,000; but for reasons specially arising out of the mode in which combination is made of the two elements of Mortality and Rate of Interest, according to which a Table of Annual Premiums at all ages is constructed, this would not be scientifically correct, though nearly enough so for the purpose of popular illustration.

VI. Expected Duration of Life dependent upon Mortality Tables.—A Table of Mortality† starts with the tabulation of a certain number of persons at the moment of birth—say, for instance, 10,000, entering accordingly upon their first year, being 0 years of age. At the end of the age 0 years, that is at the end of the first year, tabulation is made of the number who died at that age, viz., those who died before the completion of their first year. Let this number be 1,539—thus leaving 8,461 still living who are now to be tabulated as of the age of one year, and entering accordingly upon their second year.

Of these 8,461, say that 682 die at that age, that is, before the completion of their second year; thus leaving 7,779 still living, to be tabulated as of the age of two years, and entering accordingly upon their third year. Thus, in like manner, tabulation is to be made of all who enter upon each new year of age, and of all who die during any such year; until, upon reaching the hundredth year of age, or a greater age it may be, the total number of 10,000 persons who were tabulated at birth have ceased to exist. It will not be supposed that a Mortality Table of this kind is ever made at hap-hazard. Such a table is the result of much laborious and cautious investigation, and is formed by selecting for observation a settled population of some country or large city or town, or any corporation or company of persons, under circumstances favourable for observation, and tracing out what the mortality in such city, country, or town, or corporation, or company, has been within a definite term of years, and at what age in every case, and taking account also of all survivors at the end of the

* When it is said that a person at any stated age may be expected to live a definite number of years—it is always to be considered that such is an average expectation formed from numbers of that age—some of whom may not live half the time of the expectation and some of whom may live much beyond it. And so it is, that, if there be one hundred persons of the same age at a given time, such persons, if their age be 24, may be expected to pass through 3,850 years—or 38½ years each on an average. All kinds of assurances—against fire, losses at sea, &c., &c., are carried on upon the principle of averages.

term—the ages of all to be observed upon having been beforehand ascertained at the beginning of such term.

Dr. Price, in the middle of the last century, formed a Mortality Table, founded upon observations which he had made amongst the population of Northampton, and this is the Table which is well known under the name of the "Northampton Table of Mortality," formerly much in use for Assurance purposes. Mr. Milne, a very eminent actuary, formed a Mortality Table, founded upon observations made by Dr. Heysham amongst the population of Carlisle. It is called "The Carlisle Table of Mortality," and is now in common use. Other Tables of Mortality have been formed according to the mortality which has been found to prevail amongst members holding Assurances in Life Assurance Offices.

VII. Loadings.—Additions are made by Assurance Offices to the several annual premiums which, according to the Mortality Table in use and the rate of interest of money at which it is expected money may be invested, are required for Assurances upon life. These additions are made with two objects in view: one, to meet the annual expenses of the management of a large business, not otherwise provided for, and the other to secure a Life Assurance Society from all risk of failure by reason either of a greater mortality amongst its members than that represented in the Mortality Table upon which its table of annual premiums is formed, or from a lesser rate of interest upon money being obtainable than that upon the expectation of securing which such table was constructed.

It is carefully to be noted that a Mortality Table premium, before addition has been made to it, is called the "Net" or "Unloaded" Premium, but after such addition has been made it is called the "Gross" or "Loaded" Premium.

At the age of 24 next birth-day the Carlisle Mortality Table Annual Premium for £100 to be assured upon life is £1 11s. 3d.; and this by an addition of 25 per cent. to it, becomes £1 19s. The net premium is in this case £1 11s. 3d.; the gross premium £1 19s.; and the loading 7s. 9d.

VIII. Single Redemption Payments to be made in lieu of Annual Premiums.—As Annual Premiums are Annuities payable during the life of assured members for their assurances, the present values of them may be at any time ascertained by reference to an Annuity Table formed upon the Mortality Table in use. And thus it is that a capital sum of money, being the present value of an Annual Premium viewed as an Annuity, may be paid down at once as a single payment or composition in lieu of all future payments of such Annual Premium, and such Annual Premium is in such a case said to be redeemed by such single payment.

Annual Premiums may be redeemed bit by bit periodically, but the value of any such bit will vary, according to age, from time to time. As the value of an Annuity during life becomes less and less according as the age of the Annuitant becomes greater and greater, redemption payments made at different times for like amounts of Annual Premium will diminish according to increase in age.

IX. Reserved Capital.—Two particulars are here to be considered—

1st. The present value of the whole amount of sums assured in the Society viewed as "Property in Reversion;" and this we call the Liability of the Society to its Assured Members.

2nd. The present value of "Annual Premiums," viewed in the light of "Annuities," which are payable to such Society for such Assurances; and this we call the Liability of the Assured Members to the Society.

The present value of these Liabilities varies from year to year, that of Liability No. 1 always increasing in amount, and that of No. 2 diminishing. Hence (in order to supplement Liability No. 2) the necessity arises for a large reserved capital to be formed by accumulation of Annual Premiums and interest accruing upon them when invested, that so ample provision may be made to meet claims under Liability No. 1, as they will be continually occurring from time to time.

Observe, that Liability No. 2, which is composed of the amount at which all existing Annual Premiums are valued at any time, when taken in conjunction with the reserved capital in possession, is called "Assets," and that Liability No. 1 is called "Liabilities."

X. Valuation periodically made.—Valuation is to be made on 1st June in every fifth year. The object which the Actuary has before him, when he sits down to make a valuation, is to ascertain what amount of reserved capital should be now in possession. For this purpose, he has to calculate the present value of the reversionary interest attaching to each existing Assurance; and having done this, and made a total of such values, he puts down such total as the amount of the liability of the Society to its Assured Members. He now proceeds to find the present value of each of the annual premiums payable for existiug Assurances, and, having thus ascertained the total value of all of them, he puts it down under the head of Assets, being that part of Assets which arises from Liability No. 2; viz., the liability of the Assured Members to the Society. And now, inasmuch as the greater part of Assurances under valuation have been some years on foot, and the ages of the lives upon which they are made have advanced accordingly, it is evident that the amount of Liability No. 1 will exceed the amount of Liability No. 2: subtracting therefore the amount of Liability No. 2 from the amount of Liability No. 1, the remainder will be the amount of "Reserved Capital" which ought to be in the Society's possession.

XI. Surplus Capital.—The Actuary having ascertained the amount of "Reserved Capital" which ought to be in possession, compares it with that which is in possession, and, if the latter be only just on a balance with the former, the Society is just solvent; if it be less, the Society is in a state of insolvency; and if it be greater, then in whatever amount it is greater such amount is "Surplus Capital," and is no longer required to be kept in reserve as part of the assets of the Society.

XII. Surplus Capital, from whence it arises.—Referring to No. VII., it will be seen that a Loading of 25 per cent. is made upon and added to the annual premiums, which premiums, if mortality were to take place according to the Carlisle Table of Mortality, and interest of money was obtainable at $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., and expenses of management were otherwise provided for, would, without the Loading, be just sufficient to support the Life Assurances for which they are paid. If, then, the mortality has not exceeded that indicated by the Carlisle Table of Mortality, and interest has not been less than $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., and the expenses of management have been provided for, it cannot be otherwise than that, by reason of the Loading put upon net annual premiums as above, a large amount of Reserved Capital will, at any time of valuation, be found accumulated in excess of what is necessary to meet the Liabilities of the Society, which excess is to be dealt with accordingly as being Surplus Capital.

XIII. Bonus.—Inasmuch as Surplus Capital is that portion of the whole Reserved Capital of the Society which, upon valuation being made, is found to be unrequired for meeting its Liabilities, it presents itself as so much money paid by Assured Members for their Assurances, in excess of that which was required for their support, and therefore as an amount to be repaid to them in an equitable way of distribution. Here, however, prudence steps in, and advises that the whole of this Surplus Fund should not be returned back to Assured Members, but that an amount should be reserved, and placed to an account, to be called "The Reserved Surplus Fund Account," leaving the balance to be distributed amongst Assured Members, as above, by way of "Bonus."

That there is a propriety in thus keeping a part of the Surplus Fund in reserve will be made evident by the following observations:—1st. In the early stages of a Life Assurance institution, the mortality among the members will, in all probability, be less at every age than it will be found to be in its later stages. Assured lives are to be regarded at the date of Assurances upon them being made as being "Selected Lives," having the chance of a longer duration of life than unselected lives have at the same ages. But the favourable influence of selection of life has a limit. It may extend to ten or fifteen years; and at the end of that term lives which at the beginning of it were under the favourable circumstances of selection may now pass over into the class of ordinary or unselected lives. Hence, unless a Life Assurance Company is recruited by a continuous yearly supply of new members, being "select" lives, the surplus capital in later years may fall off in amount from what it was in former years, by reason of a less favourable rate of mortality being now found to prevail. 2ndly. The Interest of money, which was above the expected rate during one quinquennial term of years, may be less than such rate in the next.

XIV. Distribution of Bonus.—How to distribute Bonus in the fairest and most equitable manner amongst Assured Members is a question of very great importance. The plan upon which the author's Society acts in the matter will be learnt from the following:—

1. A. B. was 24 years of age next birth-day when he took out his Assurance for £1,000, say on 1st September, 1856—the annual premium for it being £19 10s. The next Bonus is on 1st June, 1861. Previous to 1st June, 1861, A. B. pays five Annual Premiums of £19 10s. each, and taking these with compound interest upon them, the amount accumulated on 1st June, 1861, is found to be £108 4s. 6d.

2. A. B. being on 1st June, 1861, five years older than when his Assurance was taken out—he is now considered as paying a premium of £22 10s. in each year for the next five years, say to 1st June, 1866, which is the date of the next Bonus; this being the Premium payable for an Assurance taken out at 29 years of age next birth-day. A Premium of £22 10s. paid yearly for five years will, with compound interest, amount at the end of that term to £124 17s. 6d., which amount will be considered to have been paid for his Assurance by A. B. from the date of the Bonus in 1861 to the date of that in 1866.

3. And, reckoning throughout on the same principle in respect to years to come, on 1st June, 1886, the amount which A. B. will be considered to have paid since 1st June, 1881, will be £232 3s. 5d.

Hence, supposing that the amount of Bonus allotted to A. B. in 1861 was £32 8s. in cash, and the surplus capital in 1901 kept up in proportion to that in 1861, the Bonus to be allotted to him in cash in 1901 would not be less than £139 10s., instead of £32 8s., being an increase of £107 2s.; a continually increasing amount of Bonus having also been previously allotted to him quinquennially between 1861 and 1901.

Every plan for the distribution of Bonus meets with objections, and this is not a matter of surprise considering the craving after Bonus which prevails, and the general state of ignorance in respect to it in its several relations. The objection with regard to the plan adopted by the author's Society would probably be, that the Bonus, being comparatively small at early ages, does not serve to attract young members. But, if a contrary plan were adopted, then, upon Bonus being distributed amongst them when now they had become aged members, complaint would be made by them that, by reason of so much being allotted to members of earlier ages, there was so little to be distributed amongst the elders.

XV. Bonus, how allotted.—In making allotments of Bonus, the Actuary puts down to the account of every Assurance the amount allotted to it in money. If the Assured Member, at the time of taking out his Assurance, gave notice that he required his Bonus from time to time to be paid to him in money, it is paid to him in money, and is called "a Cash Payment." In the cases of Bonus not being allotted in the way of "Cash Payment," it is applied either to increase the amount assured, or to reduce the Annual Premium payable for it.

In the case of its being applied to the increase of the sum assured, it is done by adding to it that amount which would require such an Annual Premium to be paid for it at the then age of the party to whom the Bonus is allotted as the sum of money allotted would at such age redeem. (See VIII.)

Again, in the case of Bonus money being applied to the reduction of the Annual Premium payable for an Assurance, it is done by ascertaining what amount of Annuity for life the amount of money allotted to the Assurance would purchase at the age at which the party on whose life it is made has arrived; and then, upon deduction being made of such Annuity from the amount of Annual Premium before payable, the remainder will be the reduced Annual Premium to be paid in future.

XVI. Caution to be exercised as to Bonus.—Life Assurance Companies adopt different plans for the appropriation of Bonus, and some plans appear at first sight to tend much more than others to the advantage of those whom they concern. It is denied at once that this can ever be the case. Mortality spares not one Company any more than the other. It deals with all alike, and the money market is as wide open to the one as to the other. Such being the case, every Life Assurance Company will find in one year or in any equal number of years a Surplus Capital accumulated the same in amount or nearly so as in other Companies in proportion to the amount of its business. How then can any one Company give to its members greater advantages in Bonus than are procurable in other Companies? It is notorious, however, that very specious plans in this respect are pressed upon public attention as beneficial beyond all others, and amongst others that of very large and early diminutions in the annual premiums payable upon Life Assurances. Inquiry soon makes it manifest that there is a vain show in all this. Any undue advantage at one time must be compensated for by a proportionate disadvantage afterwards.

XVII. Capital and Interest of Money.—As to the mortality which is to be expected amongst a large body of persons, it may almost be said to be a constant quantity, so unvarying has its course been according to past experience. No article of commerce indeed is so susceptible of correct valuation as human life on a large scale—certainly not bread, which is the staff of it—or any of those various luxuries which minister to its enjoyment. As to accuracy in calculations, so far as mortality is concerned, there can be little or no anxiety. But it is very different with money. At the beginning of the present century £100 Three per Cent. Consols might be bought for £55, thus yielding an interest at the rate of $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. per annum on the security of Government. Since the peace of 1815 the price of Three per Cent. Consols has occasionally been above par, and the average rate of interest upon money invested in such stock during many years past has not been above $3\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. per annum. Thus, whilst a capital of £1,000,000 invested in the year 1803 in Three per Cent. Consols at £55 per cent. would, if still remaining so invested, be now producing £88,000 per annum, it would not, if invested at this time, produce more than about £52,000, showing a difference of interest to the amount of £36,000 in annual income.

In the present state of affairs Life Assurance Companies invest very little of their Capital in Government securities, on account of the low rate of interest obtainable upon investments of that sort, and the possible loss of Capital as shown above. Investments therefore are of necessity sought elsewhere, viz., in mortgages upon landed estates; in railroad securities, which exist to the amount of hundreds of millions in value; in East Indian Stocks, and the stocks of foreign nations; and in loans upon parochial rates, which have been extensively required for grand metropolitan works now on foot, and for sanitary and other improvements going on in cities and chief towns of the kingdom under the pressure of public opinion. Larger interest can be obtained in the case of land mortgages than from Government funds; still larger upon railroad and colonial securities; and also upon securities guaranteed by parochial rates, as in this latter case the loans are generally extended over a space of thirty years, a thirtieth part being redeemable every year. In fact, the character of securities for loans of money, except those of the Imperial Government and land mortgages, varies indefinitely. Some are good, some bad, some better, some worse, in different degrees. Now as inferior securities pay the highest interest, and as high interest upon Capital increases amount of Bonus, and as large Bonuses tend to popularity, and so to an extension of business, hence it is that Life Assurance Companies are exposed to the temptation of making risky investments. No course of proceeding can be more properly deprecated than the making risky investments, and nothing so surely indicates risky investments to have been made as interest upon invested Capital beyond the ordinary rate.

XVIII. Life Assurance Offices range under two heads: 1. Proprietary Offices; 2. Mutual Offices. The distinction between them arises from the difference of mode in dealing with Bonus.

In the case of Proprietary Offices, there are persons interested in them as Members altogether distinct from Assured Members. They are called Proprietors. At the commencement of business in such offices Proprietors come forward with money to form a Capital for the protection of Assurances to be made in them. According to the amount of money advanced, shares are allotted to the Proprietors who advanced it. Say that there are 10,000 shares of £50 each; that an advance of 20 per cent. has been made on each of these shares, providing thereby an immediate capital of £100,000, and that the Proprietors in any case of emergency are liable to be called upon for the whole or any part of the remaining £400,000. Now, if Proprietors advance money, and make themselves liable for more, they will look for adequate compensation. This is given them in guaranteeing to them a share in whatever Surplus Capital may be found to exist at periodical valuations of assets and liabilities. The share to be divided amongst them is sometimes one-fourth, sometimes one-fifth, sometimes one-tenth, according to what the contract may be.

If, then, as will be seen in No. XIII., a Surplus Capital to the amount of £220,000 is to be distributed at any time, the first thing to be done before any distribution is made amongst the Assurances of the Society in the way of Bonus is to allot to Proprietors their share, and this will be £55,000 if a one-fourth share, £44,000 if a one-fifth, and £22,000 if a one-tenth; so that, in the first case, there would remain £165,000 only to be distributed amongst Assurances, in the second £176,000, and in the third £198,000, instead of £220,000.

In the case of Mutual Offices there are no Proprietors, no shares, no alienation of any part of the Surplus Capital for the benefit of outsiders. All is the covenanted property of the Assured Members, and reaches them in the form of Bonus.

[Mutual Offices (presuming them to be well managed, and the various risks prudently calculated) must necessarily be in a position to offer to the Assured greater advantages (by way of low rate of Premium or large Bonus) than Proprietary Offices could afford. If, however, bad management, miscalculation, or unexpected losses occur, to such an extent as to imperil the solvency of the Company, the Mutual Office has no resource, except whatever reserve fund it may have accumulated. The Proprietary Office, if the whole of its ordinary assets were swept away, has still an unlimited claim upon all the property of its Proprietors. This safeguard ought never to be required, but it is nevertheless a substantial guarantee.—Ed. I. M. D.]

PROBABILITIES OF LIFE.

GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES are based upon the following table calculated by Mr. Finlaison. It will be seen that of 100,000 boys alive at 3, but 94,417 will reach the age of 10, while of girls the number will be 94,551. At 50 the difference is much greater; of females there will then be 65,237 alive, and but 59,123 males. Nine females may reach the age of 100, but none of the other sex:—

Any Person who shall wilfully and falsely pretend to be or take or use the Name or Title of a Physician, Doctor of Medicine, Licentiate in Medicine and Surgery, Bachelor of Medicine, Surgeon, General Practitioner or Apothecary or any Name, Title, Addition, or Description implying that he is registered under this Act, or that he is recognised by Law as a Physician, or Surgeon, or Licentiate in Medicine and Surgery, or a Practitioner in Medicine, or an Apothecary, shall, upon a summary Conviction for any such Offence, pay a Sum not exceeding Twenty Pounds.

XLV. Every Registrar of Deaths in the United Kingdom on receiving Notice of the Death of any Medical Practitioner shall forthwith transmit by Post to the Registrar of the General Council and to the Registrar of the Branch Council a Certificate under his own Hand of such Death, with the Particulars of Time and Place of Death, and may charge the Cost of such Certificate and Transmission as an Expense of his Office, and on the Receipt of such Certificate the Medical Registrar shall erase the Name of such deceased Medical Practitioner from the Register.

Whereas under the 1 & 2 Geo. IV., c. 33, District Lunatic Asylums have been established in Ireland:

And whereas doubts have arisen as to the Person by whom the Officers and Servants of such District Lunatic Asylums should be appointed:

And whereas the said Act was amended by another Act, 8 & 9 Vict. c. 107: and

Whereas it is expedient further to amend the same, and to make other and better provision for the safe custody of dangerous Lunatics and dangerous Idiots in Ireland: Be it therefore enacted, &c.

Whereas the Private Lunatic Asylums (Ireland) Act, 1842, was passed with the object of amending for a limited period therein specified the law relating to private lunatic asylums in Ireland, and the same was amended by an Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the eighth and ninth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter one hundred and seven (in this Act referred to as "the Act of 1845,") and by the Private Lunatic Asylums (Ireland) Act, 1874, which said Acts are in this Act referred to as "The Private Lunatic Asylums (Ireland) Acts, 1842 to 1874:"

And whereas the Private Lunatic Asylums (Ireland) Acts, 1842 to 1874, were to a certain extent temporary in their duration, and it is expedient further to amend the said Acts:

And whereas under the provisions 1 & 2 Geo. IV., district lunatic asylums and a central criminal lunatic asylum have been established in Ireland, and it is expedient further to amend the said Acts:

Be it therefore enacted, &c., &c.

3. Every proprietor and superintendent of a licensed house, and every other person by the Private Lunatic Asylums (Ireland) Act, 1842, authorized to receive or take charge of a lunatic upon an order, and who shall receive, or has received, a proper order, in pursuance of the said Act, accompanied with the required medical certificates or certificate, for the reception or taking charge of any person as a lunatic, and the assistants and servants of such proprietor, superintendent, or authorized person, shall respectively have power and authority to take charge of, receive, and detain such patient until he shall die, or be removed or discharged by due authority, and in case of the escape at any time or times of such patient to retake him at any time within fourteen days after such escape, and again to detain him as aforesaid.

In every writ, indictment, information, action, and other proceeding which may be preferred or brought against any such person for so doing, such order and certificates shall, as respects such person, be a justification for taking, confining, detaining, or retaking such lunatic or alleged lunatic.

4. Application of same rules to Public Asylums.

5. If after the reception of any lunatic patient it appear that the order or the medical certificate, or (if more than one) both or either of the medical certificates upon which such lunatic patient was received, is or are in any respect incorrect or defective, such order and medical certificate or certificates may be amended by the person signing the same at any time within fourteen days next after the reception of such lunatic patient: Provided nevertheless, that no such amendment shall have any force or effect unless the same shall receive the sanction of the inspectors of lunatics, or of one of such inspectors.

The proprietor or superintendent of any licensed house may, with the consent in writing of one of the inspectors of lunatics, take or send under proper control any patient to any specified place for any definite time for the benefit of his health; and any such consent may from time to time be renewed, and the place varied: Provided always, that before any such consent shall be given or renewed, the approval in writing of the person who signed the order for the reception of such patient, or by whom the last payment on account of such patient was made, shall be produced to such inspector, unless he shall, on cause being shown, dispense with the same.

8. One of the inspectors of lunatics as regards any licensed house, and three of the governors met as a board of any district lunatic asylum as regards such district lunatic asylum, may, from time to time, of his or of their own authority, permit any patient therein to be absent from such licensed house or district lunatic asylum upon trial for such period, not exceeding thirty days, as he or they may think fit, and such three of the governors of such district lunatic asylum may make or order to be made an allowance during any such period to any such patient of such district lunatic asylum, not exceeding what would be the charge for him in such district lunatic asylum, which allowance shall be charged for him and be payable as if he were actually in such district lunatic asylum, but shall be paid over to him or for his benefit as the said governors may direct.

In case any person so allowed to be absent on trial for any period do not return at the expiration thereof, and a medical certificate as to his state of mind certifying that his detention as a lunatic is no longer necessary be not sent to the proprietor or superintendent of such licensed house, or to the resident medical superintendent of such district lunatic asylum, he may at any time within fourteen days after the expiration of the same period be retaken, as in case of an escape.

such union any chronic lunatic, not being dangerous, who may have been received into a district lunatic asylum, and selected by the resident medical superintendent thereof and certified by him to be fit and proper so to be removed, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the said guardians and the board of governors of such asylum, and thereupon every such lunatic, so long as he shall remain in such workhouse, shall continue a patient on the books of the asylum for and in respect of all the provisions of 1 & 2 Geo. IV., and any expenses incurred by the board of governors in respect of such lunatic in such workhouse shall be deemed part of the expenses of such district lunatic asylum, and shall be paid by the governors out of the moneys applicable to the payment of such expenses.

11. Whenever any person being a pauper patient in any district lunatic asylum may be lawfully discharged from such asylum, the board of governors of such asylum shall, unless such patient be otherwise discharged, forward such patient to the workhouse of the union from which he was sent to such asylum, and shall pay the expenses of such removal, and the guardians of the said union shall repay to the said board of governors the expenses so paid by them as aforesaid.

12. Lunatics in central asylum whose sentences have expired to be removed to district asylum.

13. A prisoner under remand, certified to be insane, to be removed to dirtrict lunatic asylum, and when sane be removed back for further examination.

25 & 26 Vict., Cap. 83.

AN ACT TO AMEND THE LAWS IN FORCE FOR THE RELIEF OF THE DESTITUTE POOR IN IRELAND, AND TO CONTINUE THE POWERS OF THE COMMISSIONERS.

[7th August, 1862.]

WHEREAS it is expedient:

1. As to charging expense of relief to Electoral Divisions.

2. Sect. 10. of 10 Vict. c. 31., referring to relief of persons who hold land, repealed.

3. And whereas the Guardians of the poor of Unions in Ireland are empowered to admit into any building provided by them for a Fever Hospital, or into any part of the Workhouse appropriated by them, with the consent of the Commissioners to that purpose, poor persons affected with fever or other dangerous contagious disease, and it is expedient to extend such power: Be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for such Guardians to admit into the Infirmary of the Workhouse any poor persons requiring medical or surgical aid in Hospital, and to provide for their treatment and maintenance therein, charging the expense thereof on the Electoral Division or Union at large, as the case may be, according to such persons chargeability by residence: provided that no person admitted to the Workhouse for medical or surgical treatment in Hospital shall be required by the Guardians to be accompanied by any member of his or her family as a condition of such person's admission into the Workhouse.

4. Every poor person who shall be so admitted into the Infirmary of the Workhouse in pursuance of the authority in that behalf which is herein-before given, and every poor person who shall hereafter be admitted into any building provided by the Guardians of any Union for a Fever Hospital, or into any part of the Workhouse appropriated as a Fever Hospital, who shall nevertheless be considered by the Guardians to be of sufficient ability to pay the cost of his or her maintenance while in Hospital, or some portion of such cost, shall be required to repay such proportion thereof as the Guardians shall determine; provided that such proportion shall in no case exceed the average of the general cost of maintenance, medical and surgical treatment in such Hospital or Infirmary; and all such sums shall be recoverable from such poor persons, or from those liable by law to maintain them: provided also that for the purpose of the recovery of the cost of maintenance as aforesaid, every master or mistress shall be deemed liable to maintain his or her domestic servant so long as the service shall continue, and also his or her apprentice residing under his or her roof.

5. On the requisition of any Inspector or Sub-Inspector of Constabulary, or Head Constable in charge of a station, it shall be lawful for the Board of Guardians to admit into the Workhouse Infirmary or Fever Hospital any constable or sub-constable of the said force, on service within the Union, who shall be suffering from fever or other disease or bodily injury requiring treatment in Hospital; and every such constable or sub-constable shall contribute the full average cost of daily maintenance and establishment charges, medical and surgical treatment in such Hospital for the whole term of his continuance therein.

6. Poor persons claiming to pay cost of their maintenance not to be disfranchised.

7. It shall be lawful for the Guardians of any Union, in cases requiring special treatment, to send any inmate or inmates of the Workhouse of such Union requiring medical or surgical treatment to any Hospital or Infirmary the Governor, Governors, or Managers of which shall be willing and able to receive such inmate or inmates, and to pay to the Governor, Governors or Managers of such Hospital or Infirmary, out of the rates of the Union or Electoral Division, as the case may be, the cost of the maintenance and treatment in such Hospital or Infirmary of the persons so sent as aforesaid; and the Guardians may also pay out of the rates of the Union the cost of the conveyance of such persons from the Workhouse of the Union to such Hospital or Infirmary, and also the cost of the conveyance of such persons, when discharged from such Hospital or Infirmary, to the said Workhouse; and the entire cost of such maintenance, treatment and conveyance as aforesaid, shall be deemed part of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such inmate or inmates in the Workhouse of such Union.

8. Guardians to have same authority as parents in cases of children under 16 years of age relieved without parents.

9. And whereas it has been found that the mortality among infant children admitted into Workhouses without their mothers is very large, and that in other respects the Workhouses are not well suited in all cases for the care and nurture of such children during infancy; and it is therefore expedient to extend the powers of Boards of Guardians for the relief of destitute poor children who are orphans, or who have been deserted by their parents: Be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Board of Guardians to provide for the relief of any orphan or deserted child out of the Workhouse, if they shall think fit to do so, by placing such child out at nurse, according to their discretion; provided that no child shall be placed out with any person who does not profess the same religion as that in which the child has been registered: provided that no child shall continue to be so relieved after the age of five years: provided always that the Guardians of the poor may, with consent of the Poor Law Commissioners, continue such relief from year to year until the child attain the age of eight years, should the Guardians consider that such extension of outdoor relief be necessary for the preservation of the child's health.

10. Boards of Guardians to recover costs of maintenance of illegitimate children in poorhouses under fourteen.

11. As to religious education of children the religion of whose parents is not known. And whereas by the Act of the second year of the reign of Her Majesty, intituled An Act for the more Effectual Relief of the Destitute Poor in Ireland, it is provided that no order of the Commissioners nor any by-law shall authorize the education of any child in a Workhouse in any religious creed other than that professed by the parents or parent of the child, and to which such parents or parent shall object, and in the case of an orphan to which the guardian or guardians, godfather or godmother, shall object; but no such provision is made for the case of a child not being an orphan, the religion of whose parents or parent is unknown: Be it enacted, that in every such last-mentioned case the guardian or guardians, godfather or godmother of the child, shall have the like power to object as the parents or parent of a child would have if living, or as the guardian or guardians, godfather or godmother, would have in the case of an orphan.

12. As to rating of unoccupied buildings.

13. County Cess Collectors not to be entitled to collect Poor Rates in preference to other persons. 1 & 2 Vict., c. 56.

15. Non-occupying ratepayers to give full description of the property in respect of which they claim to vote, and of their interest therein.

16. Limitation of property and proxy claims.

17. Owners or immediate lessors may vote as occupiers.

20. Guardian elected for two or more divisions to notify for which he will act.

21. Solicitors who are members of Boards of Guardians not to act for or against such Boards.

22. No paid officer engaged in the administration of the laws for the relief of the poor, or under the Act for the better distribution, support, and management of Medical Charities in Ireland, nor any person who, having been such paid officer, shall have been dismissed within five years previously from such office, shall be capable of serving as a guardian; and no person receiving any fixed salary or emolument from the poor rates in any Union shall be capable of serving as a Guardian in such Union.

23. Burial expenses of persons dying unknown.

24. Where no new Guardians nominated, old Guardians to remain in office.

25. After division of Electoral Divisions into Wards ratepayers under the last rate may vote for Guardians.

26. Appointment of Poor-Law Commissioners further continued.

An ex-officio guardian resident in any electoral division, or part thereof, belonging to such union, which forms or is situated in an urban sanitary district, shall not act or vote in any case in which guardians of such union act or vote in their capacity of members of the rural sanitary authority, unless he is the owner or occupier of property situated in the rural sanitary district of a value sufficient to qualify him as an elective guardian for the union.

5. The Local Government Board shall have power to separate from a rural sanitary district any town or district wholly situate therein, the population of which, according to the then last Census, exceeds six thousand, and to constitute it an urban district, or to include it in any adjoining urban district, subject, as such, to all the provisions of this Act affecting urban sanitary districts; and the said Board shall likewise have power to add any town or township hereby constituted an urban sanitary authority to the rural district in which it is situate, to be subject thereafter to all provisions of this Act affecting rural sanitary districts. 7. Powers and Duties of Sanitary Authority.—Subject to the provisions of this Act there shall be transferred and attached to each sanitary authority, to the exclusion of any other authority which may have previously exercised or been subject to the same, all powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities, and obligations within such district exercisable or attaching by and to the sewer authority under the Sewage Utilization Acts, and by and to the nuisance authority under the Nuisances Removal Acts, and by and to the local authority under the Common Lodging-Houses Acts, the Artisans and Labourers' Dwellings Act, and the Bakehouse Regulation Act, as the said Acts are respectively varied or amended by any Act, or any local Act, or any provisional order in force within such district, or by and to any of the said authorities under any of such Acts as aforesaid: Provided always that in any urban sanitary district the urban sanitary authority shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, continue to act in execution of any Act or local Act or provisional order in force within such district immediately before the passing of this Act, and in the execution of which at such time the body by this Act constituted such urban authority was acting. If any question arises as to what are sanitary matters within the meaning of this section, or as to any matter or thing affected by this section, the determination of the Local Government Board on any such question shall be conclusive.

Where the Baths and Wash-houses Acts and the Labouring Classes Lodging-Houses Acts, or any of them, are in force within the district of any sanitary authority, such authority shall have all power, &c., in relation to such Acts.

8. Powers relating to the treatment of Disease vested in Board of Guardians of the Union in which the Sanitary Authority is situate.—Under the provisions of the Diseases Prevention Act the execution of all powers relating to the treatment of disease, and the establishment and maintenance of hospitals, the conveyance of the sick, the disinfection of clothes or dwellings, and the interment of the dead, created by the said Act or any other Act, or arising out of any order of the Local Government Board, shall vest exclusively in the board of guardians of the union in which the district of the sanitary authority is situate, and the expenses so incurred shall be charged on the poor rates as expenses arising under the Poor Law Acts or the Medical Charities Act, as the case may be.

9. Transfer of Property to Sanitary Authority, and effect of transfer of Property and powers.—All property of whatsoever kind as belongs to or is vested in any authority whose powers are transferred to the sanitary authority shall pass to and vest in the sanitary authority, subject to all debts, liabilities, and obligations.

All debts, liabilities, and obligations which previously to such transfer were incurred by the authority whose powers are so transferred may be enforced against the sanitary authority.

10. Valuation.—Every medical officer of a dispensary district shall be a sanitary officer for such district, or for such part thereof as he shall personally be in charge of, with such additional salary as the sanitary authority thereof may determine, with the approval of the Local Government Board; and every sanitary authority, whether urban or rural, shall appoint such other sanitary officers, including a medical superintendent officer of health, when deemed necessary, as the Local Government Board shall in each case direct, with such salaries or additional salaries as the said sanitary authority shall determine, with the approval of the Local Government Board; and the said Board shall assign to the dispensary medical officers, and to the other sanitary officers, if any, and to the medical superintendent officer of health, if such an officer be appointed for the sanitary district, their respective duties and functions in the discovery or inspection or removal of nuisances, in the supply of pure water, in the making or repairing of sewers and drains, or in generally superintending the execution of the sanitary laws within the district.

Every such salary or additional salary so determined or approved shall be payable from such local fund as the Local Government Board shall indicate as properly chargeable therewith, and such part thereof as Parliament shall from time to time determine shall be recouped to such local fund out of moneys to be voted by Parliament; and the Local Government Board shall have the same powers with regard to the qualification, appointment, duties, regulation of salary, and tenure of office of every sanitary officer as they have in the case of the medical officer of a dispensary district: Provided, with regard to salaries or additional salaries, whereof any portion is to be recouped to any local fund from moneys voted by Parliament, the amount of any new salary, and the proportion between any existing salary and the addition thereto, shall be regulated according to a scale to be approved by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury.

11. Powers of Inspectors of Local Government Board.—Inspectors of the L. G. Board may attend any meetings of sanitary authorities, or of committees of sanitary authorities, during the transaction of business arising under any of the provisions of the Sanitary Acts; and such inspectors shall have for the purposes of the Sanitary Acts or Burial Grounds Acts or any of the said Acts similar powers to those which inspectors have under the Poor Law Acts and under the Medical Charities Act for the purposes of those Acts.

12. Expenses of Urban Sanitary Authority.—All expenses payable by an urban sanitary authority under the Sanitary Acts shall, notwithstanding anything in the said Acts to the contrary, be defrayed as follows: that is to say,

(1.) In the case of the council of a borough, out of the borough fund or borough rate:

(2.) In the case of an urban sanitary authority being commissioners under any of the Acts specified in the first column of the table contained in section three or of any Local Act, out of any rate leviable by them as such commissioners throughout the whole of their district:

Provided that where an urban sanitary authority had, before the passing of this Act, power to levy throughout the whole of its district a rate or rates for paving, sewering, or other sanitary purposes, all expenses incurred by such authority in the performance of its duties under the Sanitary Acts shall be defrayed out of such rate or rates except where at the time of the passing of this Act any such expenses were chargeable upon the borough fund or borough rate, in which case such expenses shall continue so chargeable: Provided also, that if application be made to the Local Government Board whereby it shall be alleged that it would be inequitable or inconvenient in the district of any urban sanitary authority that the said expenses should be borne as last aforesaid, the said Board may, after inquiry, by a provisional order, alter the incidence of such charge in respect of the whole or some of the expenditure referred to, as to them shall appear to be fair and equitable.

13. Expenses of Rural Sanitary Authority.—The expenses incurred by a rural sanitary authority under the Sanitary Acts shall be divided into general expenses and special expenses.

General expenses, other than those chargeable upon owners and occupiers under the Sanitary Acts, shall be the expenses of the establishment and officers of the sanitary authority, and all other expenses not determined by this Act or the order of the Local Government Board to be special expenses.

Special expenses shall be the expenses of the construction, maintenance, and cleansing of sewers in any contributory place within the district, the providing a supply of water to any such place, the providing, repairing, and cleansing public wells, the lighting where duly authorized, the charges or expenses arising out of or incidental to the possession of property transferred to the rural sanitary authority in trust for any district or contributory place, and all other expenses incurred or payable by the sanitary authority in or in respect of any contributory place within the district, and determined by the order of the Local Government Board to be special expenses.

When the rural sanitary authority makes any sewers, or provides any water supply, or executes any other work under the Sanitary Acts for the common benefit of any two or more contributory places within its district, it may apportion the expense of constructing any such work and of maintaining the same, in such proportions as it thinks just, between such contributory places; and any expense so apportioned to any such contributory place shall be deemed to be special expenses legally incurred in respect of such contributory place.

Ten or more ratepayers, or any number of persons liable to be rated to one-fifth part of the whole rate, of any contributory place, if aggrieved by any such apportionment, may deliver a memorial to the Local Government Board, stating their grounds of complaint, and the said Board may, after due inquiry, make such order in the matter as to it may seem equitable, and the order so made shall be binding and conclusive upon all parties concerned.

General expenses shall be payable out of a common fund to be raised out of the poor rate of the electoral divisions or parts thereof in the district, according to the rateable value of each electoral division or part thereof in manner hereinafter mentioned.

Special expenses shall be a separate charge on some contributory place or places.

The following areas situated in a rural sanitary district shall be contributory places for the purposes of this Act; that is to say,

(1.) The dispensary district;

(2.) The electoral division;

(3.) The townland:

Provided that the Local Government Board shall have power to determine on what area of charge being a contributory place, or consisting of contributory places, any special expenses shall be chargeable, whether incurred after the passing of this Act or still due in respect of works executed before the passing of this Act.

14. Mode of raising Contributions in Rural Sanitary Districts.—For the purpose of obtaining payment for special expenses from the several contributory places within its district, the board of guardians, being the rural sanitary authority, shall levy the same by special poundage rate, to be added to the poor rate on such contributory places, and to be collected therewith by the collectors of the poor rate, and lodged to the credit of the guardians with the treasurer of the union; and the expenditure thereof shall be brought to account in such form and manner as the Local Government Board shall direct; and if not otherwise directed by such general order, the sums levied by such special poundage and placed to the credit of the board of guardians shall be applied by them in discharge of the special expenses incurred as aforesaid on account of such contributory places respectively.

15. Compulsory powers to purchase land for Hospitals.—Every sanitary authority, being a part nuisance authority under the provisions of the "Act to amend the Sanitary Act, 1866, so far as the same relates to the nuisance authorities of ports in Ireland," shall, with the consent in writing of the Local Government Board, be empowered to purchase, hire, or erect any building either within or without the district of such sanitary authority for the purpose of an hospital for the reception and treatment of persons affected by dangerous contagious disease, or to purchase land either within or without such district for the purpose of erecting the same, and for these purposes the Lands Clauses Acts are incorporated herewith.

16. Incorporation of certain provisions of Lands Clauses Consolidation Act with Burial Grounds Act.

17. Justice not incapable to act in cases under Burial Grounds Acts by being member of Burial Board or liable to rate.

18. Inquiries by Board under 19 & 20 Vict., c. 98.

Union of Districts.

19. Formation of United District.—Where it appears to the Local Government Board, on the application of the sanitary authorities of any sanitary districts, or of any of such authorities, and after due inquiry, that it would be for the advantage of such sanitary districts, or of any of them, or any parts thereof, or of any contributory places in any rural sanitary district or districts, to be formed into a united district for all or any of the purposes following; that is to say,

(1.) The procuring a common supply of water; or

(2.) The making a main sewer or carrying into effect a system of sewerage for the use of all such districts or contributory places; or

(3.) For any other purposes of the Sanitary Acts or Burial Grounds Acts, or of any of the said Acts, the said Local Government Board may, by provisional order, form such districts or contributory places into a united district.

20. Mode of forming United District.—The following enactments shall take effect in relation to making a provisional order forming a united district; that is to say,

(1.) Notice of the provisional order shall be published in some newspaper circulating in the district to which it relates, and in such other manner as the Local Government Board may direct;

(2.) All costs, charges, and expenses of and incidental to the formation of a united district shall, in the event of the united district being formed, be a first charge on the rates leviable in the united district in pursuance of this Act;

(3.) The making of a provisional order shall be prima facie evidence that all the requirements of this Act in respect of proceedings required to be taken previously to the making of such provisional order have been complied with.

21. Governing Body of United District.—The governing body of a united district shall be a joint board consisting of such ex-officio members and of such number of elective members as the Local Government Board may, by the provisional order forming the district, determine.

22. Regulation as to Constitution of joint Board.

23. Expenses incurred by joint Board, how to be defrayed.—Any expenses incurred by a joint board in pursuance of this Act, unless otherwise determined by the provisional order, shall be defrayed out of a common fund to be contributed by the component districts or contributory places in proportion to the rateable value of the property in each district or contributory place, such value to be ascertained according to the valuation list in force for the time being.

A joint board may borrow and take up at interest on the credit of such common fund any sums of money necessary for defraying any such expenses, subject to the regulations of the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 1871, with respect to borrowing under that Act, as the same are amended by this Act.

24. Payment of Contribution to joint Board.—For the purpose of obtaining payment from component districts of the sums to be contributed by them the joint board shall issue its precept to the sanitary authority of each component district stating the sum to be contributed by it and requiring such authority, within a time limited by the precept, to pay the sums therein mentioned to the joint board or to such person as the joint board may direct.

Any sum mentioned in a precept addressed by a joint board to a sanitary authority as aforesaid shall be a debt due from it, and may be recovered accordingly; such contribution, in the case of a rural sanitary authority, being deemed to be general expenses.

In Ireland the like powers and duties shall be conferred and imposed respectively upon the grand jury of every county and town council of every borough.

11. 12. Any purchaser of an article of food or of a drug in any place being a district, county, city, or borough, where there is any analyst appointed under this or any Act hereby repealed, shall be entitled, on payment to such analyst of a sum not exceeding ten shillings and sixpence, or if there be no such analyst then acting for such place, to the analyst of another place, of such sum as may be agreed upon between such person and the analyst, to have such article analysed by such analyst, and to receive from him a certificate of the result of his analysis.

13. Any medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances, or inspector of weights and measures, or any inspector of a market, or any police constable under the direction and at the cost of the local authority appointing such officer, inspector, or constable, or charged with the execution of this Act, may procure any sample of food or drugs, and if he suspect the same to have been sold to him contrary to any provision of this Act, shall submit the same to be analysed by the analyst of the district or place for which he act, or, if there be no such analyst then acting for such place, to the analyst of another place, and such analyst shall, upon receiving payment as is provided in the last section, with all convenient speed analyse the same and give a certificate to such officer, wherein he shall specify the result of the analysis.

14. The person purchasing any article with the intention of submitting the same to analysis shall, after the purchase shall have been completed, forthwith notify to the seller or his agent selling the article his intention to have the same analysed by the public analyst, and shall offer to divide the article into three parts to be then and there separated, and each part to be marked and sealed or fastened up in such manner as its nature will permit, and shall, if required to do so, proceed accordingly, and shall deliver one of the parts to the seller or his agent.

Every penalty imposed by this Act shall be recovered—in Ireland, with respect to the police district of Dublin metropolis, subject and according to the provisions of any Act regulating the powers and duties of justices of the peace for such district, or of the police of such district ; and with respect to other parts of Ireland, before a justice or justices of the peace sitting in petty sessions, subject and according to the provisions of "The Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act, 1851," and any Act amending the same.

Every penalty herein imposed may be reduced or mitigated according to the judgment of the justices.

The justices before whom any complaint may be made, or the court before whom any appeal may be heard under this Act may, upon the request of either party, in their discretion cause any article of food or drug to be sent to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, who shall thereupon direct the chemical officers of their department at Somerset House to make the analysis, and give a certificate to such justices of the result of the analysis; and the expense of such analysis shall be paid by the complainant or the defendant as the justices may by order direct.

23. In Ireland any person who has been convicted of any offence punishable by this Act may appeal to the next court of quarter sessions, or to the Recorder where the conviction shall be made by the justices of Dublin, or to the Recorder of any corporate or borough town.

24. In any prosecution under this Act, where the fact of an article having been sold in a mixed state has been proved, if the defendant shall desire to rely upon any exception or provision contained in this Act, it shall be incumbent upon him to prove the same.

25. If the defendant in any prosecution under this Act prove to the satisfaction of the justices or court that he had purchased the article in question as the same in nature, substance, and quality as that demanded of him by the prosecutor, and with a written warranty to that effect, that he had no reason to believe at the time when he sold it that the article was otherwise, and that he sold it in the same state as when he purchased it, he shall be discharged from the prosecution, but shall be liable to pay the costs incurred by the prosecutor, unless he shall have given due notice to him that he will rely on the above defence.

26. Every penalty imposed and recovered under this Act shall be paid in the case of a prosecution by any officer, inspector, or constable of the authority who shall have appointed an analyst or agreed to the acting of an analyst within their district, to such officer, inspector, or constable, and shall be by him paid to the authority for whom he acts, and be applied towards the expenses of executing this Act, any statute to the contrary notwithstanding; but in the case of any other prosecution the same shall be paid in Ireland in the manner directed by the Fines Act, Ireland, 1851, and the Acts amending the same

THE ANATOMY ACT.

2 & 3 William IV., Cap. 75.

An Act for Regulating Schools of Anatomy.

[1*st August*, 1832.]

Whereas a knowledge of the causes and nature of sundry diseases which affect the body, and of the best methods of treating and curing such diseases, and of healing and repairing divers wounds and injuries to which the human frame is liable, cannot be acquired without the aid of anatomical examination: and whereas the legal supply of human bodies for such anatomical examination is insufficient fully to provide the means of such knowledge: and whereas, in order further to supply human bodies for such purposes, divers great and grievous crimes have been committed, and lately murder, for the single object of selling for such purposes the bodies of the persons so murdered: and whereas therefore it is highly expedient to give protection, under certain regulations, to the study and practice of anatomy, and to prevent, as far as may be, such great and grievous crimes and murder as aforesaid: be it therefore enacted, &c., that it shall be lawful for his Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the time being for the Home Department in that part of the United Kingdom called Great Britain, and for the Chief Secretary for Ireland in that part of the United Kingdom called Ireland, immediately on the passing of this Act, or so soon thereafter as may be required, to grant a license to practise anatomy to any fellow or member of any college of physicians or surgeons, or to any graduate or licentiate in medicine, or to any person lawfully qualified to practise medicine in any part of the United Kingdom, or to any professor or teacher of anatomy, medicine, or surgery, or to any student attending any school of anatomy, on application from such party for such purpose, countersigned by two of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace, acting for the county, city, borough, or place wherein such party resides, certifying that, to their knowledge or belief, such party so applying is about to carry on the practice of anatomy.

2. And be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Secretary of State or Chief Secretary, as the case may be, to appoint respectively not fewer than three persons to be Inspectors of places where anatomy is carried on, and at any time after such first appointment to appoint, if they shall see fit, one or more other person or persons to be an Inspector or Inspectors as aforesaid; and every such Inspector shall continue in office for one year, or until he be removed by the said Secretary of State or Chief Secretary, as the case may be, or until some other person shall be appointed in his place; and as often as any Inspector appointed as aforesaid shall die, or shall be removed from his said office, or shall refuse or become unable to act, it shall be lawful for the said Secretary of State or Chief Secretary, as the case may be, to appoint another person to be Inspector in his room.

3. And to direct what district every Inspector shall superintend.

4. And be it enacted, that every Inspector to be appointed by virtue of this Act shall make a quarterly return to the said Secretary of State or Chief Secretary, as the case may be, of every deceased person's body that during the preceding quarter has been removed for anatomical examination to every separate place in his district where anatomy is carried on, distinguishing the sex, and, as far as is known at the time, the name and age of each person whose body was so removed as aforesaid.

5. And be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for every such Inspector to visit and inspect, at any time, any place within his district, notice of which place has been given, as is hereinafter directed, that it is intended there to practise anatomy.

6. And be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for his Majesty to grant to every such Inspector such an annual salary, not exceeding one hundred pounds, for his trouble, and to allow such a sum of money for the expenses of his office, as may appear reasonable; such salaries and allowances to be charged on the Consolidated Fund.

7. And be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for any executor or other party having lawful possession of the body of any deceased person, and not being an undertaker or other party intrusted with the body for the purpose only of interment, to permit the body of such deceased person to undergo anatomical examination, unless, to the knowledge of such executor or other party, such person shall have expressed his desire, either in writing at any time during his life, or verbally, in the presence of two or more witnesses, during the illness whereof he died, that his body after death might not undergo such examination, or unless the surviving husband or wife, or any known relative of the deceased person, shall require the body to be interred without such examination.

8. And be it enacted, that if any person, either in writing at any time during his life, or verbally, in the presence of two or more witnesses, during the illness whereof he died, shall direct that his body after death be examined anatomically, or shall nominate any party by this Act authorized to examine bodies anatomically to make such examination, and if, before the burial of the body of such person, such direction or nomination shall be made known to the party having lawful possession of the dead body, then such last mentioned party shall direct such examination to be made, and in case of any such nomination as aforesaid, shall request and permit any party so authorized and nominated as aforesaid to make such examination, unless the deceased person's surviving husband or wife, or nearest known relative, or any one or more of such person's nearest known relatives, being of kin in the same degree, shall require the body to be interred without such examination.

9. Provided always, and be it enacted, that in no case shall the body of any person be removed for anatomical examination from any place where such person may have died, until after forty-eight hours from the time of such person's decease, nor until after twenty-four hours' notice, to be reckoned from the time of such decease, to the Inspector of the District, of the intended removal of the body, or, if no such Inspector have been appointed, to some physician, surgeon, or apothecary, residing at or near the place of death, nor unless a certificate, stating in what manner such person came by his death, shall, previously to the removal of the body, have been signed by the physician, surgeon, or apothecary who attended such person during the illness whereof he died, or if no such medical man attended such person during such illness, then by some physician, surgeon, or apothecary who shall be called in after the death of such person to view his body, and who shall state the manner or cause of death according to the best of his knowledge and belief, but who shall not be concerned in examining the body after removal; and that in case of such removal, such certificate shall be delivered, together with the body, to the party receiving the same for anatomical examination.

10. And be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for any member or fellow of any college of physicians or surgeons, or any graduate or licentiate in medicine, or any person lawfully qualified to practise medicine in any part of the United Kingdom, or any professor, teacher, or student of anatomy, medicine, or surgery, having a license from his Majesty's Principal Secretary of State or Chief Secretary as aforesaid, to receive or possess for anatomical examination, or to examine anatomically, the body of any person deceased, if permitted or directed so to do by a party who had at the time of giving such permission or direction lawful possession of the body, and who had power, in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, to permit or cause the body to be so examined, and provided such certificate as aforesaid were delivered by such party together with the body.

11. And be it enacted, that every party so receiving a body for anatomical examination after removal shall demand and receive, together with the body, a certificate as aforesaid, and shall, within twenty-four hours next after such removal, transmit to the Inspector of the district such certificate, and also a return stating at what day and hour and from whom the body was received, the date and place of death, the sex, and (as far as is known at the time) the Christian and surname, age, and last place of abode of such person, or, if no such Inspector have been appointed, to some physician, surgeon, or apothecary residing at or near the place to which the body is removed, and shall enter or cause to be entered the aforesaid particulars relating thereto, and a copy of the certificate he received therewith, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, and shall produce such book whenever required so to do by any Inspector so appointed as aforesaid.

12. And be it enacted, that it shall not be lawful for any party to carry on or teach anatomy at any place, or at any place to receive or possess for anatomical examination, or examine anatomically, any deceased person's body after removal of the same, unless such party, or the owner or occupier of such place, or some party by this Act authorized to examine bodies anatomically, shall, at least one week before the first receipt or possession of a body for such purpose at such place, have given notice to the said Secretary of State or Chief Secretary, as the case may be, of the place where it is intended to practise anatomy.

13. Provided always and be it enacted, that every such body so removed as aforesaid for the purpose of examination shall, before such removal, be placed in a decent coffin or shell, and be removed therein ; and that the party removing the same, or causing the same to be removed as aforesaid, shall make provision that such body, after undergoing anatomical examination, be decently interred in consecrated ground, or in some public burial-ground in use for persons of that religious persuasion to which the person whose body was so removed belonged ; and that a certificate of the interment of such body shall be transmitted to the Inspector of the district within six weeks after the day on which such body was received as aforesaid.

14. And be it enacted, that no member or fellow of any College of Physicians or Surgeons, nor any graduate or licentiate in medicine, nor any person lawfully qualified to practise medicine in any part of the United Kingdom, nor any professor, teacher, or student of anatomy, medicine or surgery, having a license from his Majesty's Principal Secretary of State or Chief Secretary as aforesaid, shall be liable to any prosecution, penalty, forfeiture, or punishment for receiving or having in his possession for anatomical examination, or for examining anatomically, any dead human body, according to the provisions of this Act.

15. And be it enacted, that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to extend to or to prohibit any post-mortem examination of any human body required or directed to be made by any competent legal authority.

16. So much of 9 Geo. iv., c. 31, as directs that the bodies of murderers may be dissected, repealed. Such bodies to be hung in chains or buried as the court shall direct.

17. Limitation of actions.

18. And be it enacted, that any person offending against the provisions of this Act in England or Ireland shall be deemed and taken to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, being duly convicted thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or by a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

19. Interpretation of certain words in this Act.

THE VIVISECTION ACT.

39 & 40 Vic., Cap. 77.

An Act to amend the Law relating to Cruelty to Animals.

[15*th August* 1876.]

Whereas it is expedient to amend the law relating to cruelty to animals by extending it to the cases of animals which for medical, physiological, or other scientific purposes are subjected when alive to experiments calculated to inflict pain:

Be it enacted, &c.,

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Cruelty to Animals Act, 1876."

2. Prohibition of painful experiments. — A person shall not perform on a living animal any experiment calculated to give pain, except subject to the restrictions imposed by this Act. Any person performing or taking part in performing any experiment calculated to give pain, in contravention of this Act, shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall, if it be the first offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, and if it be the second or any subsequent offence, be liable, at the discretion of the court by which he is tried, to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months.

3. Restrictions as to performance of painful experiments. — The following restrictions are imposed by this Act with respect to the performance on any living animal of an experiment calculated to give pain; that is to say,

(1.) The experiment must be performed with a view to the advancement by new discovery of physiological knowledge, or of knowledge which will be useful for saving or prolonging life or alleviating suffering; and

(2.) The experiment must be performed by a person holding such license from the Secretary of State, as is in this Act mentioned, and in the case of a person holding such conditional license as is herein-after mentioned, or of experiments performed for the purpose of instruction in a registered place; and

(3.) The animal must, during the whole of the experiment, be under the influence of some anæsthetic of sufficient power to prevent the animal feeling pain; and

4.) The animal must, if the pain is likely to continue after the effect of the anæsthetic has ceased, or if any serious injury has been inflicted on the animal, be killed before it recovers from the influence of the anæsthetic which has been administered; and

(5.) The experiment shall not be performed as an illustration of lectures in medical schools, hospitals, colleges, or elsewhere; and

(6.) The experiment shall not be performed for the purpose of attaining manual skill.

Provided as follows; that is to say,

(1.) Experiments may be performed under the foregoing provisions as to the use of anæsthetics by a person giving illustrations of lectures in medical schools, hospitals, or colleges, or elsewhere, on such certificate being given as in this Act mentioned, that the proposed experiments are absolutely necessary for the due instruction of the persons to whom such lectures are given with a view to their acquiring physiological knowledge, or knowledge which will be useful to them for saving or prolonging life or alleviating suffering; and

(2.) Experiments may be performed without anæsthetics on such certificate being given as in this Act mentioned that insensibility cannot be produced without necessarily frustrating the object of such experiments; and

(3.) Experiments may be performed without the persons who performed such experiments being under an obligation to cause the animal on which any such experiment is to be performed to be killed before it recovers from the influence of the anæsthetic on such certificate being given as in this Act mentioned, that the so killing the animal would necessarily frustrate the object of the experiment, and provided that the animal be killed as soon as such object has been attained; and

(4.) Experiments may be performed not directly for the advancement by new discovery of physiological knowledge, or of knowledge which will be useful for saving or prolonging life or alleviating suffering, but for the purpose of testing a particular former discovery alleged to have been made for the advancement of such knowledge as last aforesaid, on such certificate being given as in this Act mentioned that such testing is absolutely necessary for the effectual advancement of such knowledge.

4. Urari as an anæsthetic.—The substance known as urari or curare shall not for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be an anæsthetic.

5. Special restrictions respecting dogs, cats, &c.—Notwithstanding anything in this Act contained, an experiment calculated to give pain shall not be performed without anæsthetics on a dog or cat, except on such certificate being given as in this Act mentioned, stating, in addition to the statements herein-before required to be made in such certificate, that for reasons specified in the certificate the object of the experiment will be necessarily frustrated unless it is performed on an animal similar in constitution and habits to a cat or a dog, and no other animal is available for such experiment; and an experiment calculated to give pain shall not be performed on any horse, ass, or mule, except on such certificate being given as in this Act mentioned that the object of the experiment will be necessarily frustrated unless it is performed on a horse, ass, or mule, and that no other animal is available for such experiment.

6. Prohibition of public exhibition.—Any exhibition to the general public, whether admitted on payment of money or gratuitously, of experiments on living animals calculated to give pain shall be illegal.

Any person performing or aiding in performing such experiments shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall, for the first offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, and for the second or any subsequent offence, one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months.

And any person publishing any notice of any such intended exhibition by advertisement in a newspaper, placard, or otherwise shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound.

Administration of Law.

7. Registry of place.—The Secretary of State may insert, as a condition of granting any license, a provision in such license that the place in which any experiment is to be performed by the licensee is to be registered in such manner as the Secretary of State may from time by any general or special order direct; provided that every place for the performance of experiments for the purpose of instruction under this Act shall be approved by the Secretary of State, and shall be registered.

8. License by Secretary of State.—The Secretary of State may license any person whom he may think qualified to hold a license to perform experiments under this Act. A license granted by him may be for such time as he may think fit, and may be revoked by him on his being satisfied that such license ought to be revoked. There may be annexed to such license any conditions which the Secretary of State may think expedient for the purpose of better carrying into effect the objects of this Act, but not inconsistent with the provisions thereof.

9. Reports to Secretary of State.—The Secretary of State may direct any person performing experiments under this Act from time to time to make such report to him of the result of such experiments, in such form and with such details as he may require.

10. Inspection by Secretary of State.—The Secretary of State shall cause all registered places to be from time to time visited by inspectors for the purpose of securing a compliance with the provisions of this Act, and the Secretary of State may, with the assent of the Treasury as to number, appoint special inspectors.

11. Certificate of Scientific Bodies.—Any application for a license under this Act and a certificate must be signed by one or more of the following persons:—

The President of the Royal Society of London, or Edinburgh, or of Royal Irish Academy;

The Presidents of any of the Medical Corporations;

The President of the General Medical Council;

The President of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, or the President of the Royal Veterinary College, London, but in the case only of an experiment to be performed under anæsthetics with a view to the advancement by new discovery of veterinary science; and also (unless the applicant be himself such a professor) by a professor of physiology, medicine, anatomy, medical jurisprudence, materia medica, or surgery in a home university, or in a university college, or in a home college, incorporated by royal charter.

A certificate under this section may be given for such time or for such series of experiments as the person or persons signing the certificate may think expedient.

A copy of any certificate under this section shall be forwarded by the applicant to the Secretary of State, but shall not be available until one week after a copy has been so forwarded.

12. Power of Judge to grant License.—The powers conferred by this Act of granting a license or giving a certificate for the performance of experiments on living animals may be exercised by an order in writing under the hand of any superior judge, in a case where such judge is satisfied that it is essential for the purposes of justice in a criminal case to make any such experiment.

Legal Proceedings.

13. Entry on Warrant by Justice.—A J.P., on information on oath that there is reasonable ground to believe that experiments in contravention of this Act are being performed by an unlicensed person in any place not registered under this Act may issue his warrant to enter and search such place, and to take the names and addresses of the persons found therein. Any person who refuses admission or obstructs such officer shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

14 to 19. Prosecution of offences and recovery of penalties.

20. In the application of this Act to Ireland the term "Secretary of State" shall be construed to mean the Chief Secretary.

21. Prosecution only with leave of Secretary of State.—A prosecution under this Act against a licensed person shall not be instituted except with the assent in writing of the Secretary of State.

22. This Act shall not apply to invertebrate animals.

The powers of every body entitled under the Medical Act to grant qualifications for registration shall extend to the granting of any qualification for registration granted by such body to all persons without distinction of sex: Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall render compulsory the exercise of such powers, and that no person who but for this Act would not have been entitled to be registered shall, by reason of such registration, be entitled to take any part in the government, management or proceedings of the universities or corporations mentioned in the said Medical Act.

Out of the 163 Unions in Ireland, there is one class, consisting of 127 Unions, in which there is no urban sanitary authority, and in which consequently the Board of Guardians are the sanitary authority for the entire Union. A second class, containing one or more urban authorities, consists of the remaining 36 Unions, a part of which only is, in each case, under the authority of the Guardians as the rural sanitary authority. The number of urban districts under town councils, town commissioners, or township commissioners, is 44.

Separate orders, embodying the duties of the officers—almost identical in wording—were issued to the Rural, the Urban, and the Sessional Authorities. The following is that forwarded to the Rural Authorities:—

SANITARY ORDER.

To the Guardians of each of the Unions named in the Schedule A to this Order annexed; to the Medical Officers of the Workhouse and of the Dispensary Districts therein; to the Clerk and other paid Officers thereof; and to all whom it may concern.

WHEREAS by the "Public Health (Ireland) Act, 1874," each of the said Unions has been constituted a Rural Sanitary District, and the Guardians of the Union are, as such, declared to be the Rural Sanitary Authority:

And whereas by the tenth section of the said Act it is enacted that every Medical Officer of a Dispensary District shall be a Sanitary Officer for such District, or for such part thereof as he shall personally be in charge of, and that every Sanitary authority shall appoint in addition such other Sanitary Officers as the Local Government Board shall in each case direct:

Now we, the Local Government Board for Ireland, do, in the case of each Union in the said Schedule named, direct the Guardians to appoint so many Sanitary Sub-Officers as the Guardians shall, with our consent, determine; and we do hereby direct and declare that the Relieving Officers of the Union and the Collectors of Poor Rates shall be alike eligible for the office of Sanitary Sub-Officer.

And we do hereby further direct that the Guardians of the Union shall appoint one Consulting Sanitary Officer, and that for this office every Medical Officer of the Union, including the Workhouse Medical Officer or Officers, shall be eligible, and also, subject to our approval, any other Medical Practitioner having the same qualifications; and shall also appoint an Executive Sanitary Officer, for which office the Clerk of the Union, or any Assistant of the Clerk appointed by the Guardians, shall be eligible.

And whereas by the said tenth section it is further provided that the Local Government Board shall assign to the Dispensary Medical Officers, and to the other Sanitary Officers, their respective duties and functions in the discovery, or inspection, or removal of nuisances, in the supply of pure water, in the making or repairing of sewers and drains, or in generally superintending the execution of the sanitary laws within the district:

Now, therefore, we, the Local Government Board, do hereby assign to the Sanitary Officers and other Officers to be appointed under this Order their respective duties and functions as follows:—

I. Inspectorial Duties.

1. Every Sanitary Sub-Officer who shall observe or be informed of any matter demanding, in his opinion, attention from the Sanitary Officer of the Dispensary District in which he has discovered the same, shall notify it forthwith to the Sanitary Officer in writing, specifying the nature of the case in the Form (a) in the Schedule B to this Order annexed, and shall preserve a copy thereof in duplicate.

2. Every Sanitary Officer who shall have been apprized officially or shall otherwise become cognizant of any matter demanding his attention as aforesaid shall, as soon as conveniently may be, visit the locality, and if, after due inspection, he finds such matter to involve danger to public health, he shall report thereon to the Board of Guardians, in the Form (b) in the said Schedule B, showing the source from which he received the information, and the date thereof, and the date of his visit of inspection; he shall also give a sufficient description of the nature of the case, and the remedy which he recommends to be adopted, and shall preserve a duplicate of every such Report.

II. Executive Duties.

1. The duty of the Executive Sanitary Officer shall be to attend every meeting of the Guardians acting as a Sanitary Authority, and to take their directions from time to time on the sanitary business of the Board, and on the Reports of the Sanitary Officers, and all proceedings arising thereon, and to see that the same are carried out and brought to a conclusion where practicable, in pursuance of the orders of the Board.

2. In furtherance whereof we do hereby direct that every Sanitary Officer and Sub-Officer of the Union shall, on receiving directions from the Executive Sanitary Officer, attend and assist in all proceedings in which his attendance or assistance may be required.

3. The duty of the Consulting Sanitary Officer shall be to attend meetings of the Guardians acting as Sanitary Authority, whenever required to do so, and to advise them on all matters and proceedings requiring medical knowledge and advice in the administration of the Sanitary Laws.

4. The proceedings of the Board of Guardians acting as the Sanitary Authority shall be recorded in the same manner as the minutes of the proceedings of the Board under the Poor Law and Medical Charities Acts, and a copy of such record shall be annexed to the ordinary minutes of proceedings of the Board of Guardians, and transmitted to the Local Government Board by the Clerk of the Union with such last-mentioned minutes.

III. Statistics of Disease.

It shall be the duty of the Consulting Sanitary Officer and of the Sanitary Officers to furnish from time to time to the Local Government Board such statistical returns of sickness and disease in the workhouse and its hospitals, and in the Dispensary Districts, as shall from time to time be required from them respectively.

In order to render more easy the transition from the past to the future administration of the Sanitary Law in Ireland, the Local Government Board place also before the Sanitary Authorities an enumeration of the various matters dangerous to public health for which remedies are available under the existing Sanitary Laws, desiring thus to facilitate the performance of the Inspectorial and Executive duties by the parties to whom they are respectively entrusted.

With this view the abstract was made which will be found immediately succeeding the Poor Law Service in the first part of the Directory.

A DIGEST

OF

THE SANITARY LAWS IN FORCE IN IRELAND.

PREPARED BY

W. D. WODSWORTH, Esq.,

ASSISTANT SECRETARY TO THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT (IRELAND) BOARD.

THE following abstract of the sanitary laws in force in Ireland has been prepared with a view to afford information and assistance to those engaged in carrying those laws into effect, or in the words of the tenth section of the Public Health Act, 1874, "in the discovery, or inspection, or removal of nuisances, in the supply of "pure water, in the making or repairing of sewers and drains, or "in generally superintending the execution of the sanitary laws "within the district."

WATER.

Many duties are devolved on sanitary authorities in regard to the supply of pure and wholesome water for the inhabitants of the district, and also with respect to prevention of pollution of water.

37, 38 V. c. 93, sects. 7-13. 29, 30 V. c. 90, sect. 11. Comp. p. 394.

In districts where no water companies are established by Act of Parliament, the sanitary authority may make agreements for the supply of water to persons, on such terms as may be agreed upon between the authority and the persons receiving such supply, and have power for recovery of water rents so accruing.

28, 29 V. c. 61, sect. 20. Comp. p. 479.

Wells.

To provide water for public and private use, for drinking and for domestic purposes, the sanitary authority may dig wells, cleanse, and keep them in repair by paving, puddling, surrounding with proper stone or brick brims, or covering with stone or woodwork.

They may buy up any dam, mill, or weir which interferes with a proper supply of water, or may purchase land covered with water, or any water-right, but they must not injuriously affect any river or canal, or any legally established water supply.

Gratuitous supply. 11, 12 V. c. 63, sect. 78. Comp. p. 473.

For the gratuitous supply of water to the public, the sanitary authority may continue, maintain and plentifully supply with water all existing public cisterns, pumps, wells, reservoirs, conduits, aqueducts, and works belonging thereto; or they may substitute other such works equally convenient; and may also construct any number of new cisterns, &c., for the gratuitous supply of any public baths or wash-houses, not established for private profit or supported under borough rates.

Baths, &c. 11, 12 V. c. 63, sect. 77. Comp. p. 473.

They may also supply water, and charge for it, to public baths and wash-houses, or for trading or manufacturing purposes.

Private use. 11, 12 V. c. 63, sect. 75. Comp. p. 471.

To supply water "for private use" the sanitary authority may, with the approval of the Local Government Board, contract with any person or company, or may provide in other ways and maintain waterworks and "all things necessary and proper" to secure a supply of pure and wholesome water, laid on at such pressure as will carry it to the top of dwelling houses: Provided that there is no waterworks company in the district who would supply the water required; and before constructing waterworks themselves, the sanitary authority is bound to give due notice to any such company, in order that it may have an opportunity of agreeing, subject to approval of Local Government Board, to supply what may be reasonably required, and upon reasonable terms.

Water Companies.

11, 12 V. c. 63, sect. 76. Comp. p. 472.

Section 76 of the same Act enables the sanitary authority, by notice to "owner," or by doing the work themselves, to furnish any house with water which may be reported by the surveyor to be without a proper supply; but this section limits the expense so to be incurred to 2d. a week. (a)

Towns Improvement. 17, 18 V. c. 103.

The Towns Improvement Act, 1854, making provision, amongst other things, for a better supply of water in towns with 1,500 inhabitants or upwards, directs meetings to be convened on application of twenty-one or more householders, with a view to carrying any part of the Act into operation, and after approval of Local Government Board of adoption of any part of its provisions, the

The same penalties are recoverable for polluting the water supply, bathing in any waterworks or stream belonging to the sanitary authority; or for washing, cleansing, or throwing therein, or causing to enter therein, any animal (dogs or sheep, for instance),

For the purpose of ascertaining the facts as to the water being fouled, the sanitary authorities may open the gas proprietors' pipes, conduits, and works, and examine them, the expeuse being borne by the proprietors, if such fouling has taken place, and by the sanitary authority if it has not.

In case of pollution "arising from sewage," the sanitary authority may take proceedings by indictment. 28, 29 V. c. 75, sect. 10.

If any well, public or private, or water supplied from any public pump is so polluted as to be injurious to health, the sanitary authority, on the fact being represented to them, may obtain an order from justices in petty sessions to remedy the same, or close the pump or well, or direct that the water be used for certain purposes only, aud justices may order the water to be analysed. Money borrowed is not, however, to exceed twice the net annual value of the premises assessable and is to be repayable within not more than 60 years, or if borrowed from Treasury for sanitary improvements, within 30 or 50 years, as provided by the Sanitary Acts, aud at three and a half per cent. interest. Sect. 42. Sect. 44.

Nuisances.

29, 30 V. c. 90, sect. 20. Comp. p. 398.

Continued Scavenging.

Scavenging.
37, 38 V. c. 93, sect. 39. Public Health Act.

In any case where there is "urban" sanitary authority, if the Local Government Board should see occasion to issue an order for making due provision for the proper cleansing of streets, removal of house-refuse, cleaning earth-closets, &c., within its district, the urban authority would be bound to carry the same into effect, and would be liable to a penalty for default, if an occupier of a house sent notice to cleanse it, and it was not done within seven days.

Drains and Sewers.

Sewers.
17, 18 V. c. 103, sects. 33, 34.

Where the Towns Improvement Act applies, the sanitary authority has power to make and maintain public sewers, and may purchase rights in, contract for, or purchase any sewers within the town and alter and maintain the same.

Sect. 35.
10, 11 V. c. 34, sects. 35-46.

They can also take compulsory steps under the Towns Improvement Clauses Act in regard to the drainage of houses, and also as to the level of foundations of any new house, constructing drains, outfall into cesspools, providing privies and ashpits, and their inspection.

Under the Sanitary Act, 1866, any owner or occupier of premises may cause his drains to empty into public sewers, after notice to the sanitary authority, and on terms and conditions to be agreed upon.

Sect. 9. Penalties.

This may be done by owners or occupiers, both within and beyond the district. A penalty of £20 will be incurred if such drains be made so to empty into the sewers of the sanitary authority, without due notice to the sanitary authority, and their agreement, and the sanitary authority can close any drain made in contravention of the provisions of the Act.

Sect. 8.

Want of drains.
Sect. 10. Comp. p. 394.

Where there are no drains for houses, or insufficient drains, the sanitary authority can require the owner of a house to make drains into a public sewer, if not more than 100 feet distant, and may do the work themselves, at the owner's expense, if he fails to do what he is required to do by the sanitary authorities' notice.

Main drains.
38, 29 V. c. 75, sect. 4. Comp. p. 421.
37, 38 V. c. 93, sect. 19.

Under the Sewage Utilisation Act, 1865, the sanitary authority can construct such main sewers as they may think fit for keeping their district properly cleansed and drained, and may combine with other districts for making main sewers, or carrying into effect a system of sewerage for the use of such districts.

Sect. 25.

They may also obtain the use of any such subjacent sewer for "outfall" by agreement and after inquiry by the Local Government Board.

A power of entry into any lands or premises is given to the sanitary authority for making, or for keeping works in repair, and the sanitary authority may borrow money for sewer purposes, or take land for the purpose, and may compensate for damage sustained by works for carrying sewerage powers into effect. Power of entry. 28, 29 V. c. 75, sects. 5-11. Comp. pp. 422, 423.

But sanitary authorities are prohibited from making a sewer so as to drain "direct" into any stream or watercourse. Streams. 28, 29 V. c. 75, sect. 11. Comp. p. 423.

Expenses, "special," for Sewer works incurred by a "Rural," are chargeable under the Public Health Act, 1874, on the contributory district, the Local Government Board first determining the area of taxation. Expenses. Public Health Act. 37, 38 V. c. 93, sect. 13.

Expenses under previous Acts in regard to sewers and waters were chargeable on the elcctoral division only.

Sewage and Utilization of Sewage.

The Sewage Utilization and Distribution Acts, 1865, 1867 ; and Public Health Act, 1874, provide for the removal of difficulties as regards the disposal of sewage, so as not to be a nuisance, and also afford facilities for application of sewage to land for agricultural purposes ; for receiving, storing, and distributing it ; and making special drainage districts and arrangements for contributions to works either begun or completed. 28, 29 V. c. 75. 30, 31 V. c. 115, Comp. p. 420, p. 1068. 37, 38 V. c. 93.

The sanitary authority may construct sewers for keeping their districts properly cleansed and drained, and have control over them and over sewers previously constructed, and repair the same. Building sewers. 28, 29 V. c. 75. sect. 4. Comp. p. 421.

For this purpose they are empowered to carry sewers through, across, or under roads and streets ; and through or under any lands whatsoever, and to do works within and without their district. 11, 12 V. c. 63, sects 45, 46. Comp. p. 468. 24, 25 V. c. 61, sect 4. Comp. p. 473.

They may enlarge, alter, arch over, or otherwise improve any sewers vested in them, and may close up or destroy such as have become unnecessary, provided they do not cause a nuisance thereby : and also, if any one is deprived of lawful use of a sewer thereby, the sanitary authority shall provide him with other means of sewerage. Altering sewers. Comp. p. 468.

The sanitary authorities are bound to see that the sewers vested in them are neither a nuisance nor injurious to health, and are to cause them to be properly cleared, cleansed and emptied into suitable places, or may collect the sewage or refuse therefrom, for sale ; but so as not to create a nuisance. Cleansing Sewers. Comp. p. 469.

To effect such outfall and sale of sewage, and its distribution, further powers are conferred on the sanitary authorities by the Local Government Act, 1858 ; and the Public Health Act, 1874, enabling them to effect these objects within and beyond their district, also for giving compensation for damage. Outfall and sale. 21, 22 V. c. 98, sect. 30. Comp. p. 477.

But before outfall of sewage into a subjacent district is made, the sanction of the Local Government Board is necessary, after public inquiry, if requisite, and after proper terms, conditions, and precautions are arranged. 37, 38 V. c. 93, sect. 25.

Owners and occupiers of premises may cause their drains to empty into public sewers. (See Drains and Sewers, p. 13). Comp. p. 393.

If a house is without a drain the sanitary authority may require the owner to make one into a public sewer, if not more than 100 Private drains. Comp. pp. 393, 4 feet distant, and if more, then into a covered cesspool or other approved receptacle, not being under any house.

18, 19 V. c. 131, sect. 22. Comp. p. 436.

The sanitary authority may itself provide suitable sewerage from houses whenever any drain, ditch, gutter, or watercourse is a "nuisance," and may assess the expense on the houses, and recover it.

New houses. 31, 32 V. c. 115, sect. 4 to 7. Comp. pp. 1068-1070.

In case of new houses, or houses rebuilt, sanitary authorities (where there is no other enactment, public or private, to the same effect) are to have control as regards seeing that such houses have sufficient water, or earth-closets for the reception and deodorisation of fæcal matter, and are bound to see that such places do not become a nuisance, and they may supply earth.

21, 22 V. c. 98, sect. 51. 31, 32 V. c. 115, sect 5. Comp. pp. 477, 1069.

The sanitary authority has also power, conferred by Local Government Act of 1858, section 51, as to supply of water to houses, the removal of house refuse from premises, cleansing of privies, ash-pits, and cesspools.

Default. 29, 30 V. c. 90, sect. 49. Comp. p. 409.

POPULATION OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.*

Previous to 1801 there existed no official return of the population of either England or Scotland; nor was it till 1813 that statesmen had anything more than surmise to guide them respecting Ireland, and the census then taken of that country was far from correct. The first general census in 1801 showed that there were many more people in our islands than any one supposed. Since the time named there has been a fresh numbering every ten years, with the following results:—

 Incorrectly taken. † Decrease in Ireland.

As a brief result, the Census of 1871 shows an increase of 2,646,042 persons, and 519,612 inhabited houses in England and Wales; in Scotland, increases of 297,724 and 18,965; in the Channel Islands and Man increases of 1,191 and 944; but in Ireland, a decrease of 387,551 persons, (or 56,806 families), and 33,927 houses; giving, after these deductions, an increase of 2,285,694 persons and 505,620 inhabited houses. The population in urban districts in England and Wales has grown more than twice as fast as that of the rural districts (1·73 per cent.) against 0·71), and very nearly the same percentage prevails in Scotland.

FRENCH METRICAL SYSTEM OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The French metrical system is based upon the length of the fourth part of a terrestrial meridian. The ten-millionth part of this arc was chosen as the unit of measures of length, and was called mètre. The cube of the tenth part of the metre was adopted as the unit of measures of capacity, and denominated litre. The weight of distilled water at its greatest density which the litre is capable of containing was called kilogramme, of which the thousandth part, under the name gramme, was adopted as the unit of weight. The multiples of these measures proceeding in decimal progression are distinguished by the employment of the prefixes deca, hecto, kilo, and myria, from the Greek, and the subdivisions by deci, centi, and milli, from the Latin:—

RULES FOR CONVERTING CENTIGRADE TO FAHRENHEIT DEGREES.

Double the number of Centigrade degrees, subtract one-tenth and add 32; or multiply by 9 and divide by 5, and add 32.

$15°\ \text{C.} \times \frac{9}{5} + 32 = 59°\ \text{F.}$ | $-10°\ \text{C.} \times \frac{9}{5} + 32 = 14°\ \text{F.}$

$-20°\ \text{C.} \times \frac{9}{5} + 32 = -\ 4°\ \text{F.}$

In the formulas with the sign (—), the number must be treated as an algebraic negative quantity, and when multiplied by 9 and divided by 5, the difference between the quotient and 32 will either be the number of degrees above or below zero of Fahrenheit—above if less, and below if greater than 32.

THE NATURAL MINERAL WATERS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND THE CONTINENT.*

The chief springs of Great Britain are :—

BATH, where there are saline waters for drinking, and hot springs (118° Fahr.) for bathing. Chiefly recommended to rheumatic patients.

BRISTOL.—The hot wells are 80° Fahr.

BUXTON.—Pure water, temperature 82° Fahr.

CHELTENHAM.—There are various waters. Of the Montpelier Spas, No. 1 is saline aperient; No. 2, iodurctted and sulphuretted chalybeate; 4, pure saline; 4*a*, strongly iodurctted saline; 5, iodurctted magnesian saline. Of the Royal Old Wells, one is chalybeate, and the rest saline aperient; the whole with more or less carbonic acid.

CLIFTON.—Hot well, 74° Fahr. Feebly saline; contains 5½ grains of solid substance in 20 ounces.

FILEY (YORKSHIRE).—Saline aperient springs, containing 49 grains in 20 ounces, chiefly chloride of sodium, of magnesium and calcium, and sulphate of magnesia.

HARROGATE has two chalybeate springs, but is more especially noted for its sulphuretted waters. The old sulphur spring contains 137 grains of solids in the pint, chiefly chlorides. It also contains carbonic acid gas and sulphuretted and carburetted hydrogen.

BRIGHTON.—There is a chalybeate spring yielding 1 grain of iron in each pint.

LEAMINGTON.—There are several springs, sulphate of soda being probably the most important ingredient. They are recommended in stomach and liver disorders.

SCARBOROUGH owns two medicinal springs, each containing different proportions of iron and sulphate of magnesia.

MALVERN is noted for its springs of singularly pure water. Analyses have shown some of these to contain less than 2 grains of solids in the gallon. These waters are said to be valuable in painful affections of the kidneys and bladder.

HASTINGS.—Chalybeate water, with sulphate of magnesia.

TUNBRIDGE.—Chalybeate waters, remarkably free from accompanying saline.

PURTON (Wiltshire) and Woodhall (Lincolnshire) have springs yielding bromides and iodides. Useful in scrofula and rheumatism.

THE CHIEF MEDICINAL SPRINGS OF SCOTLAND are Airthrey, Bridge of Allan (saline aperient); Moffat, Dumfriesshire (aluminous and chalybeate); and Strathpeffer, Ross-shire, where there are waters containing the largest proportion of sulphuretted hydrogen of any spring in Britain. Useful in gout, rheumatism, scrofula, and skin diseases.

Foreign Mineral Waters.

Aix-la-Chapelle (Rhenish Prussia), salt, carbonate of soda, sulphates of soda, and potash, and small proportions of iodine, bromine, lithia, iron, and strontia. Recommended in skin diseases, paralysis, and syphilis.

Apollinaris (Neuenahr, Rhenish Prussia.—This contains about 12 grains of carbonate of soda in the pint, with smaller proportions of magnesia and lime. It is naturally highly charged with carbonic acid gas. It is, in fact, a natural "soda water," and its medicinal properties would be similar.

Baden Baden.—Salt is the chief constituent of the mineral waters here; but there is one spring which contains nearly 3 grains of chloride of lithium in the pint.

Carlsbad water contains sulphate of soda and potash in considerable quantities. It is recommended in cases of habitual constipation; also in diabetes.

Cauteret (Pyrenees).—A rich iodine water.

Ems contains nearly 20 grains of bicarbonate of soda in the pint.

Fachingen (Nassau).—Gaseous, and holding in solution about 36 grains of bicarbonate of soda in each pint.

Friedrichshall.—Strongly aperient; contains 58 grains of sulphate of soda, 50 grains of sulphate of magnesia, 75 grains of salt, and nearly 40 grains of chloride of magnesium in the pint.

Homburg.—Chalybeate, very saline, and highly charged with carbonic acid gas. Useful in plethora, dyspepsia, and hysteria.

Kissingen.—Gaseous, saline. Especially recommended in cases of indigestion and in certain kidney diseases.

Kreuznach.—Strongly iodized, and stimulant to the lymphatic system. Prescribed in syphilis, rheumatism, scrofula, &c. There is a "brine spring," yielding about 4 ounces of salts to the pint.

Marienbad (Bohemia).—The waters are laxative, owing their properties chiefly to sulphate and bicarbonate of soda and bicarbonate of magnesia.

Pullna water is a strong purgative, each pint holding in solution about 150 grains of sulphate of soda and about 150 grains of sulphate of magnesia, with other salts.

Seidlitz (Bohemia) waters contain chiefly sulphate of magnesia, about 100 grains in the pint.

Selters (Nassau), from whence is imported the well-known "German Seltzer Water." The character of this water is that of a tonic laxative. It contains about 21 grains of salt, 12 grains of bicarbonate of soda, with small quantities of iron, magnesia, &c., in the pint. It is a little gaseous.

Vals (France).—There are six springs, temperature about 66° F. Bicarbonate of soda is the chief constituent, but the waters are also thought to owe some of their value to traces of lithia they contain. The names of the springs are Saint-Jean (sedative), Désirée, Précieuse (laxative), Rigolette, Magdeleine (renovating), Dominique (tonic).

Vichy.—These celebrated waters are of similar constitution to the last-named, but without any lithia. The most frequently imported springs are Grande Grille, for liver, dyspepsia, &c.; Hôpital and Hauterine, for indigestion; Celestins, for gout and gravel; and Des Dames, chalybeate.

Moderate rates of Premium.

Liberal treatment as to Travel and Foreign Residence.

Absolute Assurances, by which, for each premium paid, a given amount is secured independent of further premium payment.

Policy holders are protected from all liability by the deed of settlement, and by a clause in each policy; they have, therefore, the advantage of a large premium fund with the absence of all individual risk.

Second-class lives are allowed to pay ordinary rates with the extra premium charged as a debt on the policy reducible annually.

Claims not exceeding £200 sterling are paid as soon as recognised by the Board, and assurances of larger amount within three months after proof of death.

LOANS.

Advances are made on Freehold, Copyhold, and Leasehold properties, Life and Reversionary Interests, and on personal security, in connexion with Life Assurance. The amount of the Surrender Value will at all times be advanced on a Policy, together with the borrower's personal security.

At the last Report the difference between the value of liabilities and that of future premiums was £212,641 in favour of the office, which difference forms a large reserve fund for future profits and expenses.

Private Asylum & Hospital for the Insane,

FARNHAM HOUSE, FINGLAS,

NEAR DUBLIN.

ESTABLISHED A.D. 1814.

This Establishment consists of two distinct, but adjoiniug houses—Farnham House for Gentlemen, and Maryville for Ladies, both healthily situated, well ventilated, and with perfect drainage.

The accommodation in sitting, day, and bed-rooms is most ample, and the health of the patients is sustained by a most liberal and varied dietary, and by careful medical and moral treatment. A commodious Turkish Bath is always available on the premises.

The outdoor amusements are Bowls, Quoits, Croquet, and Carriage Exercise; the indoor Billiards, Bagatelle, Backgammon, Chess, Cards, Music, &c., and a plentiful supply of Books, Magazines, and Daily Papers. The spiritual wants of the patieuts are attended to by the Ministers of the various denominations, and a service is held every Sunday moruiug by the Vicar of the Parish in the private Chapel of the Institution. The situation is most healthy; the grounds open and extensive, enclosing forty-five acres, and commanding good views of the Dublin mountains and surrounding country.

Prospectuses and forms of admission can be obtained from ALEXANDER PATTON, M.B. T.C.D., L.R.C.S.I., &c., Proprietor and Resident Physician, at the Asylum.

Restraint is not under any circumstances practised; and the closest attention is paid to the medical treatment and general health of the Patients.

Terms vary according to the advantages and comforts which may be required for each case; but they cannot in any instance be less than will admit of having the treatment conducted on a scale of becoming liberality. Payments quarterly in advance. Information and Reports on application.

OFFICES—40 MOLESWORTH STREET, DUBLIN.

The great want so long experienced in Ireland of an Institution where children of enfeebled intellect could receive education and protection, was supplied by the establishment of the above in 1869. The premises are situated at Lucan, in a most salubrious spot, and the Establishment is under the care of a Resident Medical Superintendent, with a competent staff of assistants, who have hitherto laboured most successfully in promoting the improvement, mental and physical, of the Imbeciles placed under their charge.

There are now forty-seven pupils in the Institution, of whom nine are full-paying; nineteen pay a portion of their maintenance, and the remainder are free.

The most improved methods are employed for the training of the pupils. Many have made considerable progress in mat-making, tailoring, and general household work. Others have been taught to read and write, and have been generally benefited by the instruction received.

The free and partial paying pupils are admitted by Election.

The terms for payment cases may be ascertained on application to the Secretary.

Each half-guinea subscribed annually gives one vote; a donation of £5 5s. confers a life-vote.

There is also a Lunatic Asylum for the middle classes in connexion with the Institution. It is under excellent management, and the patients are most comfortably circumstanced. The charge is £40 per annum, but for special attendance the charge is increased.

Further particulars as to both Establishments can be obtained from the Secretary,

HOUSE OF RECOVERY

AND

RETREAT FOR THE INSANE.

Established 1824,

FOR THE RECEPTION OF BOTH LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.

POST TOWN—LOUGHGALL, CO. ARMAGH.

I take the liberty of informing the Medical Profession and friends of the Mentally Afflicted, that I have recently remodelled and considerably enlarged the above Institution, all the arrangements being in accordance with the improved system which modern science has introduced into the treatment of the insane.

This Institution is situate in a very beautiful and picturesque neighbourhood, which combines cheerfulness with retirement, and it has long been admitted to be a most healthy residence. The grounds are extensive, and laid out with much taste, and the private walks run through a mile of rich and varied scenery.

The greatest care is always taken to render this Establishment a domestic home and house of recovery, rather than an asylum in the general acceptation of the term, and the closest attention is paid to the medical treatment and general health of the Patients, every facility being provided for their recreation and amusement.

There are Baths—Warm, Tepid, &c., &c., under the direction of the medical attendants. This mode of treatment, pursued at the Retreat, has resulted in the mental and physical restoration of a very large proportion of the insane.

Nature and Treatment of Deformities of the Human Body.

By LAMBERT H. ORMSBY, A.B., M.B., Univ. Dub.; F.R.C.S.I.; Lic. Med. Univ. Dub.; L. and L.M. K.Q.C.P.I.; L.M. Rotundo Lying-in Hospital, Dublin; Demonstrator in the School of Surgery, Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland; Surgeon to the Meath Hospital and County Dublin Infirmary; Surgeon to the National Orthopædic Hospital of Ireland.

The above is a complete work on the Deformities of the Human Body. The subject is divided into twelve chapters, which comprise all the Deviations and Distortions the Practitioner or Student is likely to meet with in the practice of his profession. The work is written in a concise and systematic manner, and affords a great amount of information on this special subject; so much so, that it can be confidently recommended as a most useful and practical work.

"We give Mr. ORMSBY credit for putting an enormous amount of matter into a small compass. Two hundred and fifty pages 12mo contain a description of the nature and treatment of diseases upon which other authors have written thousands of pages; and he has illustrated the book with many interesting and instructive cases, and has epitomised, in a brief space, the literature of the subject."—Medical Press and Circular.

JOHNSTON'S FLUID BEEF,

A preparation for Nutritious Beef Tea, containing all the Constituents of Beef.

THE MOST PERFECT FOOD FOR INVALIDS EVER INTRODUCED.

REPORT from CHARLES A. CAMERON, M.D., F.R.C.S.I., Professor of Chemistry and Hygiene in the Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland; Medical Officer of Health and Analyst for Dublin: Analyst to the Royal Agricultural Society, &c., &c.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS,
STEPHEN'S GREEN,
DUBLIN, 20*th Nov.* 1877.

I HAVE examined a specimen of JOHNSTON'S FLUID BEEF, submitted to me by the Manager of the Canadian Meat and Produce Company, Edinburgh, and the following are the results at which I have arrived:

100 parts contain—

Moisture	50.68
Albumen and Crystallisable Extractive Matters, &c.	36.28
Fats	3.90
*Mineral Matters	9.14
	100.00

*Containing Chlorine ...	2.456
And Phosphoric Acid ...	0.976

This extract is a very valuable nutritive substance, as it contains both fats and albuminous principles It is very rich in the salts of meat, and would form an excellent addition to the salted meat used at sea. The aroma and flavour which it possesses are in my opinion superior to those possessed by any other meat extract which has come under my notice. It will therefore be found most valuable in the preparation of soups and minces.

Altogether, I can very strongly recommend Johnston's Fluid Beef as an exceedingly good preparation of the kind.

PEPSINE WINE. PEPSINE BISCUITS.

GRANULAR EFFERVESCING PEPSINE.

A very agreeable Preparation, each teaspoonful containing five grains of Pepsine Powder.

LIQUOR ERGOTÆ

(LONG'S)

One Drachm for a Dose.

This Preparation contains all the active properties of the drug in a "sweet, concentrated and permanent form."

PURE EXTRACT OF MALT.

This valuable and NUTRITIOUS preparation is highly recommended by the Faculty as a most effective therapeutic agent in the renovation of delicate and exhausted constitutions. It is very rich in both the Nitrogenous (muscle producing) and fat forming materials; the relative proportions of which are adjusted in harmony with the newest discoveries in the physiology of food. For impaired digestion, loss of appetite, cough, bronchitis, incipient consumption, and other depressing maladies, it has been found very sustaining and strengthening, and is admirably adapted for building up and invigorating the system.

While taking the Extract of Malt, it is recommended to use a generous, but not a rich or fatty diet, avoiding the use of acids. In most cases (while using it) the necessity for stimulants is obviated.
